Gem student achievement test scores show drop over 5 year period

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Idaho students' scores in the only achievement test offered statewide show an apparent five-year decline in scores.

But Idaho Department of Education officials say the decline is not necessarily indicative of a decline in student learning.

The State Department of Education annually offers a national-achievement test, the Iowa Test of Educational Development, to any school district that wishes to participate. This year, 112 districts out of a total of 146 gave the test to its 11th grade students.

A five-year survey of scores as reported by the Idaho Daily Statesman, Boise, shows a drop of as much as 24 percentiles. Total language arts scores, for example, slipped from the 55th percentile in 1969-70, to the 31st in 1974, on one form of the test given.

An average Idaho score at the 55th percentile meant that 44 percent of the scores for the nation were above, and 54 per cent were below, those of Idaho.

Social studies also showed a large decline, but reading and math stayed at fairly stable levels. Department of Education officials generally tend to discount the decline in scores as meaning a decline in students' achievement.

Administrative assistant to state superintendent of public instruction, Roy Truby, said today, "I am sure we are progressing. It is the Idaho students who are less capable than before. Truby is an announced candidate for the post of superintendent.

Truby also confirmed that Idaho ranks low in various educational measurements. The state has the third highest class size in the nation, with the third lowest average teacher salary. In addition, according to the Stateman, 39 states rank above Idaho in annual expenditure per pupil.

These factors, especially the classroom size, could have an effect on student learning, according to Mrs. Ed Lewis, departmental consultant for pupil personnel.

Referring State Sup. of Public Instruction D. F. Engleking said today part of the decline in the test was due to the changing of questions toward basic, eastern-biased items. In addition, he said dependence on one test was not an adequate basis.

"I think the fair thing would be to give more than one test," he said.

But Truby said that although the scores on the social studies portion of the test could be affected by slanted questions, "There is certainly no way you can slant a test that way in basic reading and math."

Mrs. Lewis emphasized that the test may not be measuring what Idaho students are being taught. She said that many schools are teaching transformational English, instead of the traditional grammatical approach to the language.

"I want to look and see if this test is testing what we're teaching," she said, "and if it's not, I think we should look at another test."

Problems with evaluating the scores arise for two reasons. For one, national norms for the test, first established in 1962, were reset in 1971, according to the Statesman. The biggest drop in scores occurs between 70-71 and 71-72. In addition, the old X-4 form of the test is being phased out. More students are being given the X-3, a new, shorter form now.

Mrs. Lewis said, "Score drops were much more significant for the X-4 than for the X-3."

Truby suggested another possible reason for the drop. He said that some larger states traditionally did well, but their average was pulled down by ghetto schools.

New, however, with a high input of federal funds, the ghetto averages are coming up, and with them the large state averages. This rise could make Idaho's averages relatively lower, Truby indicated.

TF zone measure effective May 9

TWIN FALLS—The new Twin Falls County zoning ordinance will become official on May 9, according to County Commissioner Merl Leonard.

The law and related zoning maps will be published as a legal announcement in the "Times-News" that day, he said. The publication will include maps showing new county zoning around the cities of Twin Falls, Kimberly, Buhl, Elko and Hansen. The county commissioners adopted the ordinance Monday.

Galbraith raps economic policy

OMAHA (UPI)—John G. Galbraith, Harvard University economics professor, said here Tuesday inflation won't be stopped until we have a government that is determined to stop it. Galbraith, a critic of President Nixon's economic policies, said Nixon is more concerned with his own political survival than with curbing inflation. "The administration has no economic policy," he said.

NFO cows not pregnant

ONTARIO, Ore.—The "pregnant milk cows" being slaughtered in protest here today do not appear so pregnant. For the past two weeks the National Farm Organization has asserted that it was gathering 300 to 500 pregnant milk cows to be butchered in protest of low cheese prices. But, Coast Packing Co. assistant manager John Yraegen said he saw no pregnant animals among the 106 head brought in this morning. In fact, he said, a number of the NFO "pregnant heifers" are beef cattle.

French arms aid planned

PARIS (UPI)—France will sell $160 million in missiles, night-fighting equipment, mortars and ammunition to seven Arab countries, the newspaper Le Monde said today. A condition of sale is that the weapons cannot be handed over to any other country without France's permission, the newspaper said.

Rhodes urges full disclosure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican leader John E. Rhodes said today that he had urged President Nixon to turn over full tapes of his Watergate-related conversations to House impeachment investigators. The Arizona Republican indicated he did not believe either the Judiciary Committee or the full House would be satisfied with transcripts alone of the tapes. While House staff members are said to be working on transcripts of tapes of 42 of his Watergate conversations that the committee has subpoenaed.

Canadian postal talks continue

OTTAWA, Canada (UPI)—A wildcat postal strike entered its third day in Canada today, with more bargaining sessions scheduled between the government and the Canadian postal workers' union. Eric Taylor, special government negotiator, said "We're making some progress" in the dispute. The workers want negotiation of future job classifications, resulting from introduction of automated mail sorting.

$5 billion aid plan drawn

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon proposed to Congress today a $5 billion foreign aid program, including $250 million for Egypt to strengthen the "forces of moderation" in the Middle East.

The aid package for the fiscal year starting July 1 would include $1.5 billion in United States assistance to Egypt, including $250 million in military assistance. The rest would be for economic and military assistance.

The president also urged Congress to authorize an appropriation of $200 million to assist South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos in their efforts to shift their economies from war to peace.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger outlined the program at a meeting with congressional leaders and appealed for support on grounds that foreign aid "has become an indispensable element of U.S. foreign policy."

The $250 million in assistance to Egypt would be used for clearing the Suez Canal, repairing the war damage in adjacent cities and restoring Egyptian trade, Nixon said.

He said American diplomatic initiatives in the Middle East had helped create conditions "necessary for an end to conflict and violence."

Of the Middle East in general, Nixon said, "the hope for a lasting solution to the Arab-Israeli dispute is stronger today than at any time in the previous quarter-century."

Besides the quarter-billion for Egypt, the president proposed to provide Israel $50 million for security support and $300 million in military credit sales to permit it to continue to defend itself and reduce the prospect of a new conflict.

He also asked $100 million in military assistance grants for Jordan, plus $77.5 million in security supporting assistance, and $30 million in military credit sales.

In addition, Nixon requested a "special" requirement of $100 million "to be disbursed for new needs that may arise as the outlines of a peaceful settlement in the Middle East takes shape, including provision for peacekeeping forces, aid to refugees and development projects.

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., had told reporters after Nixon's meeting with top congressional leaders that while the aid request was "a pretty big sum" and that aid was "unpopular with the country," he intended to support it.

Jets blast Golan posts

By United Press International
Israeli and Syrian warplanes bombed and strafed each other's positions on the Golan Heights today and an official Damascus newspaper warned that the fighting, now in the fifth day of tank and artillery duels, could escalate into the fifth Middle East War.

A Syrian military communique said Syrian air defenses "reported to include new Soviet-built multiple warhead missiles — shot down two Israeli planes, trying to bomb Syrian positions on Mt. Hermon. A Tel Aviv military spokesman reported new Israeli air strikes but said all planes returned safely."

A spokesman reported no Israeli casualties but reported the deaths Tuesday of three Israeli soldiers and injuries to four others in a mining incident on a road in the lower Golan Valley near a Israeli paramilitary settlement 35 miles north of Jerusalem.

Decision announced

JEROME — Jerome Police today headed an intensive investigation into a triple slaying in Jerome while a suspect conferred with his defense attorney.

The house at 615 W. Fifth, in Jerome, in which three people were shotgunned to death Monday, was kept sealed as the investigation continued.

County Coroner Dr. Lauren Neher, Jerome, ruled that Clara Irene Heughins, 40; her father, Cecil W. Moore, 71; and her sister, Joy Laurene Neils, 50, had died as a result of shotgun wounds. No autopsy was ordered.

A suspect, Charles Eldon Heughins, 47, Jerome, has been charged with the murder of the three victims. He was being held at the Jerome City Jail today.

Heughins reportedly has conferred with Jerome County public defender Phil Becker. A preliminary hearing must be held within 10 days of the arrest under Idaho law.

Jerome slaying probed

Details of the arrest were released today by the arresting officer, James Lawwell, a Jerome deputy sheriff.

Lawwell had been at the courthouse when he heard a radio call from the police station that a shooting had occurred at the house at 615 West Fifth.

Lawwell drove westward on Fourth Street when he spotted a red vehicle being driven toward him by the suspect.

"According to Lawwell, the suspect 'started swerving to avoid me.'"

"Then the two vehicles approached each other, 'all of a sudden' the suspect just took his hands off the wheel and his feet off the pedal and the car just came to a stop," Lawwell said.

The suspect then "stepped out of the pickup and remained standing with no resistance at all."

Meanwhile Ernest Louis Jerome police officer, had moved in behind the suspect's car as it slowed to a stop.

New paper circulation wins Jerome chief's OK

JEROME — Jerome Police Chief Howard DuBois said today he will permit circulation of a new newspaper in Jerome provided the papers don't blow in the wind.

He said he had told the Gooding-based Enterprise editors that purchased circulation would be acceptable if a rubber band were used or the papers folded to prevent their blowing in the wind.

Last week DuBois had invoked a city ordinance regulating scattering of handbills after he had received complaints that Enterprises were blowing about the city.

Although the city's litter ordinance specifically exempted newspaper capable of being entered as second-class mail, the chief said the newspaper exemption did not apply in this case because the paper failed to meet the postal requirements for second class mail.

In that case, the newspapers would have to meet the requirements for distribution of handbills and fliers.

"It's been my contention from the very beginning there is no objection to putting out a newspaper so long as they don't blow," he said.

He said the requirements of the ordinance would be met if the papers were banded.

Enterprise editor Mrs. Robert Brown said Tuesday all the papers distributed in past weeks had been secured by rubber bands; but DuBois disputed that.

"They wouldn't have blown around if they had been banded," he said.

Wreck claims TF woman

TWIN FALLS — Edith M. Kleinkopf, 72, Twin Falls, died Tuesday night in an Elko, Nev. hospital following a traffic accident Sunday.

Mrs. Kleinkopf, the wife of Arthur M. Kleinkopf, former Twin Falls superintendent of schools, was driving the car in which the couple was returning to Twin Falls from Arizona.

Kleinkopf is listed in satisfactory condition in the Elko County General Hospital today. His wife had been listed in poor condition since the accident.

The Nevada Highway Patrol said Mrs. Kleinkopf was driving the car when it went off the right side of US Highway 30 about 15 miles north of Wells. The car struck a road marker and came back onto the pavement. Officers said the driver apparently overcorrected and the car again went off the right side of the highway and overturned.

Mr. and Mrs. Kleinkopf had been involved with the school program at the Japanese relocation center at Hunt during World War II. He was superintendent and Mrs. Kleinkopf taught school there.

She came to Twin Falls in 1946 and began teaching in the junior high school. In 1963 she transferred to the Robert Stuart Junior High School where she taught until retiring in 1967.

EPA weakens hatchery pollution guidelines

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

DENVER, Colo.—The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is drastically weakening its stance on strict control of fish hatchery pollution.

Proposed guidelines released April 15 by the EPA, less than six-fifths as stringent as the first-phase, tentative requirements presented last fall by the agency.

Consideration of the economic burdens of cleanup and difficulty in measuring a primary pollution standard are behind the shift in the agency's stance, EPA officials say.

Initially, EPA proposed an 80 per cent reduction in BOD (biological oxygen demand) and settleable solid discharged by the hatcheries by July 1, 1977.

Now, however, the agency is proposing only a 15 per cent overall waste reduction by that date according to Jules Cohen, technical coordinator of the National Field Investigation Center of the EPA.

Also, Cohen said, the new tentative guidelines propose to drop entirely the BOD reduction requirement.

This plan represents an about face since the EPA had been using BOD as a primary indicator of serious pollution problems associated with the trout and salmonid industries.

BOD, the amount of oxygen consumed by wastes, is a primary measure used by EPA in determining the pollution created by any organic discharge.

Through the winter EPA officials had been quoting studies which showed that 100 pounds of fish product waste containing 134 pounds of oxygen died, or as much oxygen as the wastes of 12 persons would use up.

This figure, taken with Magic Valley trout farmers' estimates of the pounds of trout raised in the valley, shows that the hatcheries release wastes which consume 60,000 pounds of oxygen daily.

This would approach one-half of the 125,000 pounds of BOD pollution created by potato processing plants, sugar plants, other food processors and city sewage in the valley.

But now, EPA researchers believe that use of the BOD standard is unenforceable, Cohen said. He said that the amount of BOD in hatchery discharge is difficult to measure accurately.

With 25 to 100 million gallons of water running through most hatcheries daily, the amount of BOD is extremely small in a test sample of water. You're never really certain exactly what you're getting after a test is made, Cohen said.

Because the test data is "not significant enough," he said that a BOD standard applied to the fish industry "would probably be very difficult to enforce."

Cecil Moore

JEROME — Cecil W. Moore, 71, died Monday at his home in Jerome.

Mr. Moore was born Oct. 7, 1902, in Burr Oak, Kan. He married Dolly Blain-Dee in 1921 in Smith Center, Kan.

He lived in Kansas until 1927 when they moved to Red Cloud, Neb., where he operated a transfer business.

They came to Jerome in 1936 and moved to Wendover, Utah, in 1947 where Mr. Moore was a foreman at Bonneville Limited until he retired in 1963.

The family returned to Jerome where he had done carpentry work in the area.

He was a member of the Methodist Church.

In addition to his wife, Jerome, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Carol Swinerton, Richfield; three sons, Cecil Moore, Jr., Jerome; Dewayne Moore, Idaho Falls; and Lindell Moore, Klamath Falls, Ore.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Morris (Frances) Bacon, Hot Springs, Mo.; two grandchildren, Mrs. George (Mary) Little Tolson, Fairfax, Va., and W. Lyle Majors, Las Vegas, Nev., and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mr. Moore and his two daughters, Clara Irene Heughins and Joy L. Nelms, will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in Hove Funeral Chapel—Burial—John N. Garbrandt, Final rites will be in the Jerome Cemetery.

3 suspects held

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)

Police today held three suspects on suspicion of torturing five hostages with acid before shooting each one of them in the head during a stereo shop robbery. Three of the victims were killed.

An 18-year-old girl was raped before she was slain and one of two survivors of Monday's massacre was found wandering around the shop with a pen jutting out of his ear. One of the robbers jammed the pen into his ear and then kicked it.

Two suspects surrendered without resistance at their barracks at nearby Hill Air Force Base about 10 p.m. Tuesday. They were identified as Dale S. Pierre, 21, of Trinidad, West Indies, and William A. Andrews, 20, of Jonesboro, La.

After the two men had been booked on homicide charges, a third airman walked into police headquarters and said he wanted to talk with the detective.

The unidentified airman was held for questioning and police said a felony warrant charging him with homicide would be sought.

Police Chief L. Roy Jacobsen said Pierre had been a suspect in an Ogden murder last year but was not arrested because of insufficient evidence. Jacobsen called him a "vicious character" with a record of drug use.

Pay hikes given nod

TWIN FALLS — Salary increases of $500 to $900 per year were granted elected county officials Tuesday by the board of county commissioners.

County Commission Chairman William L. Chaney said county auditor Harold Lancaster will receive a $700-a-year increase, going from $10,150 to $10,850.

Sheriff Paul Corder receives the largest increase of $900 with his pay to increase from $9,900 to $10,700 per year. Those receiving the $900-a-year increase are Ronald Taylor, county assessor, and the only woman officer holder, Ruth Jones, treasurer.

Mrs. Jones has been making $9,500 and will receive $10,200 while the assessor was earning $9,800 and will receive $10,400.

Commissioners also set the coroner's salary at $11,400 a year compared to $11,300 now being paid.

By law the county commissioners are allowed to set salaries of the judges while the legislature sets the prosecuting attorney and county commissioner salaries.

The pay rates become effective Jan. 1, 1975, and are set now to give candidates seeking the offices an opportunity to know what the salaries will be if they are elected.

New TF dog licenses go on sale

TWIN FALLS — Dog licenses are now on sale at the Twin Falls City Hall at new rates and effective for one year from the date issued.

The licenses must be purchased at the office of the city clerk and a certificate showing a current rabies inspection is required. Fees are $1.00 for all-sterilized males and females not neutered or spayed.

Dogs within the city limits are required to wear a license tag. Failure to comply with this ordinance in which case the owner must pay a charge of redeeming the dog.

City Manager Jean Miller said an expanded effort is underway "to bring into issue citations to dog owners violating the city ordinance and dogs not licensed will be picked up by the city humane officer or police officers at any time including early morning evening or night."

Address set

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will address the Exchange Club next Tuesday.

Ed Robertson, club president, said the governor will speak during the club's noon luncheon at the Turf Club. Andrus is scheduled to visit Twin Falls that day, he said.

Jobies initiate 4

TWIN FALLS — Four new members were initiated Monday at a meeting of Bethel No. 19, International Order of Job's Daughters.

Initiated were Terry Lynne Barron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Barron; Lois Rae Molyneux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Molyneux; Nancy Jones, daughter of Mrs. Leah Jones; and Jani Motters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Motters.

Introduced were Diana Berkley, grand representative in Arkansas; Martin Lundgren, Bethel guardian; Carl Kober, associate guardian; and Mr. and Mrs. Jon Barron and Mrs. Leah Jones.

Ten Bethel members will attend a Boise meeting Thursday honoring Mrs. Sylvia Pen Brown, supreme guardian of the International Order of Job's Daughters. Members will also attend a joint breakfast Sunday with members of Bethel No. 41 and No. 19, Twin Falls, and No. 14, Jerome. Following the breakfast, Bethel members will attend services at the United Methodist Church.

Lisa Logan was birthday girl. Jenny Skinner was jobbie of the meeting. A librarian's report was given.

The next meeting will be May 13. Secret fathers will be revealed and it will be senior night.

TF orchestras set concert Thursday

TWIN FALLS — Orchestra students of Twin Falls schools will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The concert will be in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium, and is in honor of National Music Week, sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The concert will open with five numbers by the elementary orchestra directed by Ernest Moss. The elementary students will play "Trumpet Parade," an old French tune; "Village Festival," a Czech folk song; "Gypsy Dance," a Hungarian folk tune; "Rosa Lee," a folk song; and "Arabian Nights," an Indian tune.

The combined seventh grade string orchestra of Vera C. O'Leary and Robert Stuart junior high schools directed by Richard Thorne and Tom Whaley will play "Canon for Strings," by Norman Ward; "Blues Pizzicato," by Norman Ward; and "Pebbles," by Norman Ward.

The combined eighth grade orchestra, directed by Tom Whaley will play "An English Folk Song," arranged by Truman Huston; and "By the Time I Get to Phoenix," by Webb.

The Vera C. O'Leary combined eighth and ninth grade orchestra, directed by Richard Thorne will play "Rock Rock Merrily on High" by Jack Laurati, and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" by Richard Stephan.

Handshake diplomacy continues

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, buoyed by cheering, applauding crowds in the Soviet capital today set out for more sightseeing and handshake diplomacy in the former capital of Czarist Russia.

The senator arrived in Russia's second largest city by special plane Tuesday night and was immediately taken to a dinner hosted by city officials.

Kennedy was scheduled to fly back to Moscow tonight and leave Russia Thursday morning after a week-long visit.

The senator has become a hit in the Soviet Union, using American-style campaign techniques in a land of colorless one-party politics.

REV. E.J. BATTEN, service speaker

Oregonian conducts TF service

TWIN FALLS — Rev. Ernest J. Batten, Albany, Ore., will speak at services at Lynwood Chapel tonight through Sunday.

The services are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. each evening except Saturday and at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Rev. Batten, a former district superintendent of the Lutheran Church, served 18 years on the governing board of Mountain View Bible College and also is on the finance committee of West O. Evangelical Seminary, Portland.

He plans an intensive study of 1 John while in Twin Falls. The public is invited, Pastor Don Hubert said.

Land, water grabby rapped

BOISE (UPI) — A member of the Idaho Water Resources board says water and land grabs are "going on all around us" and he's asked a local civic group what is the kind of Idaho it wants.

"The thing that's wrong today," Frank Jones told the Boise Kiwanis Club Tuesday, "is we've got too much money."

"We've got to think a little more about quality... some decisions are going to have to be made about values," he said.

Just a few words, to the person who took the lawn mow from the back of my car... I saw what you did and I know who you are. Hope you wear it well — signed, Sharon R. Moore 733-3788

Sawhill faces peculiar problem in new office

Wednesday, April 24, 1974 Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — John C. Sawhill faces a peculiar problem as the new head of the federal energy office — to prove that he is what other executives approvingly call "a tough manager."
Sawhill implicitly accepted the challenge yesterday before the House announced his appointment, when he volunteered at a news conference that one of his top priorities was "to strengthen our internal management."
Sawhill evidently knew that there had been reservations within the administration and congressional circles about appointing the 37-year-old newcomer to government to the top energy job.
He has been the deputy to William E. Simon, who is scheduled to become secretary of the treasury, since the last week of November, "when they began accepting the nucleus of an energy agency in an atmosphere of crisis. Some officials, but not all, think the reservations have more to do with internal politics than with Sawhill himself."
December and January were a brutal time for Sawhill and Simon. Simultaneously, they had to make policy, write regulations for fuel allocations within a statutory 30-day deadline (which they could not make), find scarce fuel to allocate, and convince the public that the government had the "crisis" in hand, and spend endless days answering the same questions over and over before one congressional committee after another.
"John has undergone a metamorphosis," said an official who knew Sawhill at the Office of Management and Budget, which he joined a year ago as associate director for natural resources, energy and science. "He was a reasonable guy; analytical, calm — a guy who never raised his voice," the official said of Sawhill. "The energy office brought out an aggressive streak," the official continued, "he got short-tempered — blustering, bellowing, tough and mean — I guess he was trying to be like Simon."
That John Sawhill is aggressive in socially approved ways is widely acknowledged. Shortly after Frederick V. Malek, the former White House talent scout, resigned, Sawhill was deepening his agency's influence over science and resources policy, so the reported dismay of the White House domestic council staff and the satisfaction of Roy L. Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget.
Sawhill learned, according to one government source, how to set up meetings of agency officials with the President that would include himself — and that is just what associate directors of the Office of Management and Budget are supposed to do.
Sawhill has been described as a cool, keen analyst who marshals his facts thoroughly before reaching conclusions. "He will listen," a federal official said.
He is serious and purposeful, and his black shell glasses contribute to that impression. Yet, he is a man who does not agonize over decisions, according to intimates.
Openness serves Sawhill well in his dealings with reporters and members of Congress. He has made friends on Capitol Hill, in part because he appreciates the importance of being interested in a Congressman's particular Problems.

Sawhill makes it a point to agree with members of Congress whenever he can, yet he does not hesitate to correct misconceptions of or offer differing interpretations.
If he has made any enemies, they have not named themselves. He has been supported by Republicans and Democrats, by businessmen and by the Sierra Club.
Isabel Vandevanter Sawhill, a native of Washington, a graduate of Wellesley and the District of Columbia. She "never holds extreme views on anything. He's easy to reason with."
What are Sawhill's views?

"tough manager"

"I'm fairly liberal," Sawhill said when asked about his politics. "Moderate might be a better word." He added with a touch of pride that, in Baltimore, he had devoted some money and much time to promoting the racial integration of neighborhoods.
He said he switched from the Democratic Party to the Republican Party a year ago when he joined the Nixon administration, but this year is enrolling in neither party.
John C. Sawhill was born in Cleveland on June 12, 1936, the first of four children to James and Mary Gipe Sawhill. He and his wife have a son, James, who is 14.
Sawhill grew up in Baltimore, attended private school and went to Princeton. At Princeton he played football, basketball, hockey and joined Colonial, an eating club ranked high in the social pecking order. After graduating cum laude in 1958, Sawhill studied at New York University where he earned a Ph.D. in economics, finance and management.
After two years at Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, he returned to NYU as an assistant dean and assistant professor of finance. He then served as a consultant to the Home Banking Committee.
By all accounts, Sawhill is a compulsive worker. In Washington, he has been working Saturdays and Sundays, as Simon has. Sawhill also plays hard. He is a skier, hiker, tennis player and bicyclist, and he usually runs — not jogs — before work. The demands of his energy job caused him to abandon his daily run, but several days before he went to Colorado for a week of skiing last month, he began running every morning again to get in shape.

Outfitting 'final step'

(c) Chicago Daily News
CHICAGO — President Nixon's resignation would be a "final step" in the Watergate cover-up, a constitutional-law authority declared.
"A presidential resignation would, at this stage, constitute nothing more than a final step in a cover-up of gross abuse of office," said Philip B. Kurland, a University of Chicago law professor, in a speech at Roosevelt University. Such abuse, Kurland maintained, "must be made public if we are to hope to inhibit similar misdeeds in the future."
Kurland cautioned Republicans who favor resignation as a means of strengthening their party that the move would be dangerous to their own interests.
"Only when the Republican Party is prepared to condemn the President himself with it able to separate itself from the alleged wrongdoings of which he may be guilty," Kurland said.

Clear Lakes work enough?

Editor, Times News:
Since the publication of the picture of the Clear Lakes grade, Gooding County side, (at the end of March in the Times News) three reflectors and a new sign have been added and all weeds removed.
There is now one reflector at the end of one lot at the bottom of the sign. Watch for Rocks, and at the bottom of the new sign which reads "Hill."
They are really a help when one comes to that area from the north on a dark, cloudy night, and I am grateful to whoever put them up and grateful to you for bringing this dangerous road condition to public attention.
But three small road reflectors really are not enough. Many more are yet needed, not just for local drivers who do not drive the road often enough to feel confident of its safety, but as a protection for tourists who will soon be in the area, with vacation season starting.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Diabetes control main aim

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a person's blood sugar is normal, does he or she have to continue with insulin?
Is it ever possible for him ever to quit taking insulin? My diabetes started in later years and I have been doing well. My insulin intake is only 20 units of U-100 Lente. — Mrs. G. P.
Let's start by pointing out that too much blood sugar is what proved that you had diabetes in the first place. Having the level normal now is because you are taking the insulin and, obviously, eating in such a way that you do not get and do not produce more sugar than the insulin can enable you to use up. (Good for you!)
Just stopping the insulin would mean that on the same food intake, your sugar level would start to rise, and that is exactly what has to be avoided.
It is possible in some cases, although not the usual practice, for a person to stop insulin and substitute one of the oral diabetes pills which reduce sugar level. This is not successfully done in a great number of cases. Just some, in any event, ordinarily the oral medications are tried first to see if they will suffice, unless in the physician's judgment the case demands insulin from the outset.

But in any event, why upset the apple cart when you are doing so well the way things are? The ultimate aim in treating diabetes, in keeping it under control, is to keep the blood-sugar level normal and avoid complications.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend seems to have some peculiar ideas about "the pill," that it makes women sterile, that it makes them unsexed, that it may cause deformed babies, and that it is generally bad for a person. Is this true? I have been on the pill for over a year and was not told of any serious side effects. — P. C.
Your friend's ideas are, as you say, "peculiar." She is not correctly informed, and is wrong on all four points. There are a few possible side effects in some women, but since you haven't noticed any of them — such as retention of fluids — and you don't have any trouble with your veins (such as varicose veins) I think you can safely ignore your friend's worrisome notions.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I understand that a tablespoon of linseed oil a day on salads or other foods along with a tablespoon of litchin is helpful in dissolving blood clots and cholesterol in the arteries and

Elected blacks on increase

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — Paced by the election of 26 new mayors, the number of blacks elected to political office increased sharply last year, according to the Center for Political Studies.
As of April 1, the center reported, 2,991 blacks held elective office in 45 states and the District of Columbia. This compared with 2,621 a year ago, and 1,185 in 1969.
The number of black mayors rose from 82 this time last year to 108 so far in 1974, an increase of 31.7 per cent. Blacks were elected mayor in such major cities as Los Angeles, Detroit, Allentown, Cincinnati, Dayton, Ohio, and Raleigh, N.C. A majority of the black mayors, 63, are from cities and towns that are predominantly composed of blacks or other minorities.
Eddie N. Williams, president of the center, a nonprofit research organization, said the new figures "give some measure of how far blacks have already traveled on the road to political empowerment, but they also show how far we've yet to go to achieve true representation at all levels of government."
The 370 additional black officials elected in the last year represented a continuation of the slow annual rise in numbers. However, the rate of increase showed a decline, 13.1 per cent as compared with last year's 15 per cent increase over 1972.

The five states that have no black elected officials are Hawaii, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota and Utah.
The greatest gains in the number of black elected officials over the last four years were in the South, with such increases as 320 per cent in Texas, 243 per cent in Georgia, 205 per cent in South Carolina and 173 per cent in Arkansas.
Michigan continued to be the state with the largest number of blacks in elective positions, with 116 this year. Mississippi, with 191, replaced New York in second place. After New York were New Jersey and Illinois, 152; Arkansas, 150; Louisiana and Alabama, 149, and Ohio, 139.

Inflation endangers democracies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., said Tuesday that the threat of runaway inflation is endangering the foundations of western democratic society.
In a Senate speech following a week-long visit to Europe, Mondale said inflation was "the overriding concern of virtually everyone I saw — not confined to bankers and industrialists."
"Inflation was the concern of people who are worried that the structure of our democratic societies can not endure the level of inflation which is now ravaging every democratic country in the world."
He said no one "here or in Europe" "really knows" what to do about this inflation.
"The most worrisome fact, in my view, is that no concerted effort is being made to deal with the problem of inflation on the scale that is required."
In any event, linseed oil wouldn't be my choice of a vegetable oil, since there are plenty of others available at the grocery store.

Although the objectives were worthy, everyone now knows that price controls simply did not work exactly as hoped. Instead, they interfered seriously with food production and marketing. Many shortages developed and prices increased. Now, with controls off, and the food business again operating in its normal, free competitive manner, supply and demand should start to come into balance. Because some foods take longer to produce than others, not everything will become plentiful at the same time. Meanwhile, we will continue to do everything within our power to give you the kind of values you expect to find at Safeway.

We pledge that in our store near your home, you will continue to find quality foods, priced to save you money. We look forward to more abundant supplies of foods and the opportunity to give our customers even better values.

US starts Cuba policy review

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The stiff objections of Latin American to U.S. policy on Cuba have apparently put the gears of Congress grinding on a broad review of U.S. relations with Fidel Castro's Marxist government.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously approved Tuesday a "sense of the Congress" resolution calling for a new look at U.S.-Cuban relations by both the administration and Congress.

The resolution, sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and attached to the 1975 State Department budget authorization bill, will lead shortly to hearings on the subject, committee sources said.

In a related action, the Senate Banking Committee was urged by a prominent businessman, Donald Kendall, chairman of Panco, Inc., to repeal a law that bans foreign subsidiaries of U.S. companies from selling to countries embargoed by the United States.

Last week, the State Department granted an exception to allow Argentine subsidiaries of General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler to sell cars to Cuba. Chrysler Tuesday signed a $24,000,000 deal to sell Havana.

FLOOD WATERS strand cattle in pens on a farm near Winnipeg, in central Canada, Monday. Widespread spring flooding in the nation's prairie provinces have begun receding but waters were still rising at some points. Damage was in the millions of dollars, and the grain industry and some farmers in Manitoba were expected to be hit hardest. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee, which is considering the possible impeachment of President Nixon, halted that process long enough Tuesday to come to the relief of Marcos, Rojas Rodriguez, who has waited 49 years.

On May 25, 1925, while he was picking potatoes for pay in a field adjoining Kelly Field outside San Antonio, Texas, Rodriguez, then age 13, found a bomb case and banged it against a wagon wheel.

It exploded and he lost a thumb and two fingers. His father, Juan, asked the Army for $3,000 damages. An Army board recommended paying $900.

A bill to compensate the boy's father for $900 was introduced in the 66th Congress in 1919, and subsequently in the 70th, 71st, 72nd and 73rd Congresses and again in the 91st Congress in 1970 and the 92nd in 1971. It never passed.

Last Nov. 29, with no debate, the House passed the bill, H.R. 116-000, passed the Senate and went to the House Judiciary Committee where it languished.

Campaign fund plan 'success'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The plan to pay for the 1976 presidential campaign by taxpayers, Democrats and Republicans with federal funds through a $1 checkoff on income tax returns now appears assured.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) said Tuesday.

"We project that more than $75 million will have been designated this year for the 1976 presidential election campaign when all the 81 million returns have been processed," IRS Commissioner Donald C. Alexander told the American Tax Association (ATA) convention.

"When this amount is added to the almost $4 million designated last year, the campaign fund should have a balance of over $80 million by the end of the year," Alexander said.

Alexander said he expected funds designated by taxpayers in the next two years will put the campaign fund into operation in 1976. The fund will become operative when it reaches an amount equal to 10 percent of the total of the voting age — a figure expected to be less than $50 million.

He told the editors and publishers that the checkoff will be a "very successful" idea, due in large part to news reports and editorials.

The commissioner also reported that taxpayers have not been taking questionable deductions or refusing to comply with income tax laws as a result of the disclosure of President Nixon's tax situation.

He said, "Geez" who had predicted mass noncompliance apparently overlooked Americans' sense of responsibility to their fellow citizens.

New quads 'doing well'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Quadriplets, three boys and a girl, born to a suburban Evanston, Ill., woman were "doing very well" today, and doctors said a new drug which delays their delivery by three weeks has "greatly increased" their chances of survival.

The infants, weighing between 3 pounds 1 ounce, to 4 pounds 2 ounces, were born Monday to Susan Kalken, 27, who had received injections of

Reagan pays up

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Asked if he paid a state tax on his 1973 income, Gov. Ronald Reagan replied only, "Yes."

Reagan, who long has contended that "taxes should hurt" drew fire three years ago when it was disclosed he paid no 1970 state income taxes because of "business reverses."

At a Tuesday news conference, the governor was asked by a reporter to pay state income taxes for 1973. "Yes," was the one-word reply.

In early-year subsequent to 1970, Reagan has said he paid a state income tax but has not divulged the amount.

Troops bring out 107 crash victims

DENPASAR, Bali (UPI) — Indonesian jungle troops today began the grim task of taking the bodies of 107 Pan American Airways crash victims down a steep, 4,000-foot mountain on the island of Bali.

Commandos and "para-troopers" hacking at the dense undergrowth with machetes, began gathering the remains in the jungle on volcanic Mount Merapi for the rough trip down the slopes.

The Pan-Am Boeing 747 crashed into a mountain Monday night 100 yards from the summit and burst into flames killing all aboard. The troops reached the crash site Tuesday after a seven-hour, 35-mile trip through the jungle.

Paula Causey, a U.S. Information Services (USIS) officer based in Jakarta, went with the search party to the scene. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Causey of West Point, Va., were among 26 Americans on the plane.

"It's a total loss," the information officer leader said to a hastily "greeted" search command post near the mountain.

Expert says Patty unwilling robber

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An authority on the 1970 Kent State shootings has decided by an independent study of pictures taken during a bank holdup that kidnapped Patricia Hearst was an unwilling member of the robbery team.

Peter Davies, a Staten Island, N.Y., realtor, said a careful study of the photos taken by a bank camera during the April 15 crime indicated Miss Hearst was being forced to carry an automatic rifle and participate in the crime.

Davies' conclusions were contained in a letter to the Hearst family which released its contents to newsmen Tuesday. The letter was turned over to U.S. Attorney James L. Browning of New York.

Browning said with the recommendation it be submitted to the federal grand jury probing the Feb. 1 abduction by the "Symbionese Liberation Army" and the robbery.

Davies' analysis of photographs taken during the Kent State trouble played a key role in the recent indictments of National Guardsmen in Ohio. He also wrote a "book" on the shootings.

The letter to the Hearst family said: "The strap of the weapon (Miss Hearst was carrying) does not go around the back of her neck. Apart from the fact that this is a little unusual, that the strap should go over her right shoulder only, what makes it extremely illogical is that her coat has been put on after she donned the gun."

Consequently, it becomes impossible for her to throw down the weapon without first removing the coat.

Davies also noted that the bank photos showed Miss Hearst with her right hand in her coat pocket.

Consumer abuse said key cause of TV set fires, explosions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fires and explosions in television sets have been traced to everything from hungry mice to pet monkeys, according to a spokesman for the television repair industry.

Richard L. Glass, executive vice president of the National Electronic Service Dealers Association, told a government hearing Tuesday that consumer abuse and accidents can sometimes have as much to do with television set fire and shock hazards as does the way the set itself was made.

Glass testified at a Consumer Product Safety Commission hearing designed to provide the panel with information on which it will base mandatory government safety rules for the manufacture of all television sets.

Glass said his association estimates television receivers cause about $800 million each year with the potential for destroying homes and lives. Some government figures have placed the number of television-related accidents at 10,000 a year. The current bearing was prompted in part by a rash of fires last year in New Jersey, blamed by some of the victims on color television sets. The fires took 14 lives.

Glass said a build-up of grease and dust in older sets can cause fires; and he told of one case where a pet monkey jumped a vase of water on a set causing a fire, and "the monkey jumped around setting the drapes on fire."

"Even mice have been known to short out television sets," he added.

Glass also said people throw strange things — like money — into the sets. One repairman found $40 in change inside a set.

Other consumers mistreat their sets, turning them upside down for repairs or well-meaning friends, operating them in confined spaces, jerking the plug out, letting rain come in the window on them, or refusing to let repairmen make suggested preventive maintenance," he said.

The Electronic Industries Association, representing the manufacturers of 85 per cent of the sets sold in America, testified Tuesday it had no reason to believe television sets caused the New Jersey fires — but said "complete perfection is not always achieved on the production line" and it was willing to work with the commission to draw up rules for the industry.

After 49 years, injury relief voted farm hand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee, which is considering the possible impeachment of President Nixon, halted that process long enough Tuesday to come to the relief of Marcos, Rojas Rodriguez, who has waited 49 years.

On May 25, 1925, while he was picking potatoes for pay in a field adjoining Kelly Field outside San Antonio, Texas, Rodriguez, then age 13, found a bomb case and banged it against a wagon wheel.

It exploded and he lost a thumb and two fingers. His father, Juan, asked the Army for $3,000 damages. An Army board recommended paying $900.

A bill to compensate the boy's father for $900 was introduced in the 66th Congress in 1919, and subsequently in the 70th, 71st, 72nd and 73rd Congresses and again in the 91st Congress in 1970 and the 92nd in 1971. It never passed.

Last Nov. 29, with no debate, the House passed the bill, H.R. 116-000, passed the Senate and went to the House Judiciary Committee where it languished.

So the members set aside their concern with Richard Nixon long enough to consider Marcos Rodriguez.

It took 10 minutes.

One member wanted to know why Rodriguez had not been compensated by Congress years ago if his cause was just.

"If we pass this bill," asked another, "are we setting a precedent?"

No one could explain the long delay. But the Army, charged with investigating, had recommended paying $15,000. It said "find out" into the Archives to find records of the claim.

Another member asked how much it had cost the government to process the claim over all these years. No one was willing to estimate.

Then the committee voted by voice, with some audible opposition, to pass the bill providing $10,000, sending it to the House floor.

Then it adjourned. It meets again Thursday, to discuss the possible impeachment of a president.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Seattle lawyer who filed Tuesday to get a Supreme Court ruling that "reversed discrimination" may try again.

Attorney John Diamond said two other people have approached him to handle cases similar to that of Martin DeFunis, a white law student who claimed minority group applicants with lower qualifications than his were admitted to the University of Washington law school.

DeFunis was allowed to pursue his studies during the litigation, and the court said Tuesday that, since he is ready

Arthritis cause found

LONDON (UPI) — A biochemist said Tuesday he has discovered the cause of arthritis and a way both to prevent and control the crippling disease.

A spokesman for the Arthritis and Rheumatism Council said the cause of the disease was circulated in a news conference by Dr. E.C. Barton-Wright and in a booklet aimed at laymen and medical personnel.

Barton-Wright said the disease was caused by a deficiency of "pantothenic acid," a component of Vitamin B, which is easily destroyed in food processing and cooking. Other scientists have considered arthritis a rejection disease in which tissues in the body's joints are treated as foreign invaders by the rest of the body.

Irked Boisean launches hash brown spud drive

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — An Idahoan's pet peeve about restaurants that refuse to serve hash brown potatoes with bacon and eggs may change the menu of a nationwide chain with 380 outlets.

Irritated early one morning when he was unable to get his brownies with his breakfast at a Boise outlet of Sambo's Restaurants, Cumer L. Green, 32, Boise, decided to embark on a potato crusade.

He wrote Sam Battistone, Santa Barbara, Calif., vice chairman of Sambo's and son of the founder, asking him to change his menu insofar as Idaho locations are concerned. If Sambo's goes along with his idea it may change the menu nationally.

Idaho's most famous product, as you undoubtedly know, is the potato, and Idahoans are most commonly raised on potatoes from the time they are born," Green, a local attorney, wrote.

"However, one of the most popular uses of potatoes as it would apply to your restaurants in Idaho, is in the form of hash brown served with eggs, bacon, ham or sausage."

"I don't know how many times my friends and I have passed after an evening out to select an establishment to go to for breakfast prior to journeying home for the evening and have immediately ruled out Sambo's because one cannot enjoy potatoes," Green said.

"I don't in any way possess any expertise in restaurant management but I would suggest that Sambo's join the team and 'ski the great potato,' he said, referring to an Idaho promotional slogan.

Battistone wrote back that he, too, loves hash brown potatoes and that Sambo's has considered many times adding them to its menu.

However, it is very difficult to change a menu that has been so successful and we must admit that we are having very hard time getting the cooperation of hash brown and therefore have not decided on them," Battistone said.

"As you may be aware, we have the same menu, and same prices nationwide," he said. "Therefore, this insures that we cannot add hash brown in Idaho alone, without also serving them to the rest of the country."

Then, Green said, Battistone opened the door for the mighty Idaho spud.

"I can assure you that as soon as we find a product we can ship nationally, and prepare with constant quality, we will add it to our menu," Battistone wrote. "Hopefully, that will be some time in the near future, so that we can both go into Sambo's and enjoy hash brown."

"Until that time, please convince your friends that there are many other items on the menu, including Idaho French fries, that they can eat with much enjoyment."

Green just couldn't believe Sambo's can't find suitable potatoes that can be shipped national and prepared with constant quality. So he contacted the Potato Commission and some of the potato processors in the state.

Green Randall, executive director of the Potato Commission, was so impressed with Green's efforts he sent him a silver tie tac making him an official Idaho potato booster.

R.S. Farnish, Caldwell, executive vice president of sales and marketing for the J.B. Simplot Company, wrote Battistone:

"This is a reminder that J.B. Simplot Company produces millions of pounds of frozen shredded hash brown potatoes, frozen southern style hash brown and dehydrated shredded hash brown," Farnish assured Battistone.

"We distribute these, genuine Idaho hash brown in addition to our genuine Idaho Frozen French fries in all major and most minor markets of the 50 United States," Farnish said.

"We will be most happy to supply you with samples of our products," he said, guaranteeing an ample supply from our "new" new pack nest full and pointing out that Idaho spuds are sure profit builders.

"We are glad to know that you are a lover of hash brown potatoes," Farnish said. "We hope you will be able to enjoy the world's best...at Sambo's," he said.

code-named "Nimbus Star," coincides with President Nixon's efforts in Washington to win $250 million from Congress for aid to Egypt under the administration's new-found friendship with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Work actually started Monday with helicopters of the two Jima-located mines at Timalia and on the western shore of Lake Timalia — both halfway along the canal. The mine sweeping must be carried out before engineers can clear the canal of the thousands of artillery and mortar shells that splashed into the waters during three Middle East wars.

Three weeks ago, in a speech that was not cleared with the White House, Ford denounced the 1972 Nixon campaign organization as "an arrogant, elite guard of political adolescents."

A week later, the New Republic magazine published an article, based largely on an interview with Ford, describing the vice president's views on how he would reshuffle the cabinet and White House if he should become president.

Certain White House aides were particularly incensed over a part of the article describing Ford's uneasiness over long hours spent in the President's company.

In the days that followed publication of the article, Ford appeared obviously chagrined over the fact he has created by granting the interview. He expressed particular distress over the comment about presidential conversation driving him close to distraction.

What he really meant, he said later, was that he felt he was taking up too much of the president's time, that he was reluctant to break off conversations with Nixon and yet did not like to overstay his welcome and be told by the President to leave.

US units aid Suez clearing

PORT SAID (UPI) — The 18,000-ton helicopter carrier USS two Jima, first American warship to enter Egyptian territorial waters in 16 years, sent helicopters into action along the Suez Canal today in a search for mines blocking the 101-mile-long waterway.

Two Egyptian minesweepers, assisted by U.S. RHIB Sea Stallion helicopters, cleared a path for the two Jima to its anchorage six miles off Port Said Tuesday when the U.S. 6th Fleet ship arrived six months after the end of the October war.

The start of the minesweeping operation,

Aides' hostility puzzles Ford

(c) N. Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON, — Vice President Ford has confided to acquaintances in recent weeks he is perplexed by what he senses to be a feeling of hostility toward him by certain members of the White House staff.

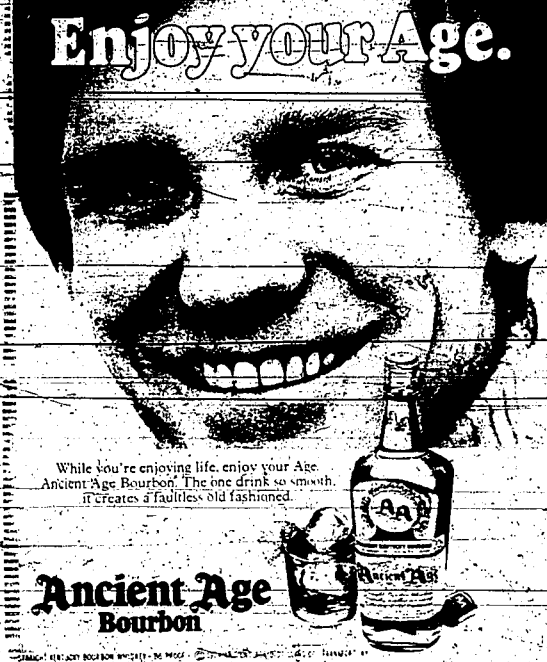

The vice president has concluded, according to those sources, that certain members of Nixon's staff do not understand the close relationship that has developed between the two men since Ford has had and continues to have with the President.

The apparent schism between certain White House aides and Ford is not unique in American politics. Presidential aides, at least those in the recent administrations, have always expressed concern over any show of independence by a vice president.

The Nixon staff, at least some of those at high levels, are known to subscribe to this view of a vice president's role. Some are willing to grant the vice president at least some measure of independence.

Several recent incidents have reinforced the beliefs of certain White House aides that Ford is not as loyal to Nixon as he has professed to be.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices opened broadly lower on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday. Trading was moderate.

Shortly after the opening, the Dow Jones Industrial average had slid .65 to 845.45. Losses were limited to 100 points by newly-fortune, of the 361 stocks crossing the tape.

In the previous session, stocks took a sharp tumble as investors worried about the continued climb of the prime lending rate, and as new doubts were raised over whether the economy will be able to recover as hoped in the second half of 1974.

The Dow dropped 12.59 to 845.45.

One stock, Con Edison, slid 5 1/2 to 12 1/2 in heavy trading, after shocking Wall Street with news it is cutting its quarterly dividend for the first time since 1885.

The weakness spread throughout the utility sector of the market, and was viewed by analysts as an extremely serious blow to confidence of investors who buy stocks primarily for income, rather than capital gains.

Early Wednesday, Chemical Bank of New York and National Bank of St. Louis pointed about half a dozen other banks in raising the prime lending rate to a record, equalling 10 1/2 per cent.

IRS to provide tax data files

(C) New York Times Service. WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service, in an abrupt reversal, has agreed to provide the Senate Watergate Committee with politically sensitive tax returns and other materials from the personal files of F. Donald Nixon, and Charles G. Rebozo, well-placed sources said Tuesday.

The agency's decision involving files of Donald Nixon, a brother of President Nixon, and Rebozo, the President's closest friend, was worked out at a meeting at the capital. It was viewed as a significant victory for a team of committee investigators, headed by Terry F. Lenzner, that has been looking into $100,000 presidential campaign contribution given to Rebozo in 1969 and 1970 by Howard R. Hughes, the billionaire industrialist.

The sources said that Burke W. Wilsey, a revenue official who represented Donald C. Alexander, commissioner of Internal revenue, also agreed at the meeting to provide a wide variety of tax returns and other data that the committee deemed essential to its investigation.

The revenue service's decision to turn over the requested documents provoked a bitter dispute among some Democratic and Republican committee members and aides, the sources said, as well as a highly publicized conflict between the agency and the agency.

Among the key materials sought by Lenzner, the sources said, were the agency's so-called "sensitive" reports on Donald Nixon, Rebozo, the Hughes Tool Co., and Lawrence F. O'Brien, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Lenzner also said that the "sensitive" reports themselves, so called because of the politically significant and sometimes embarrassing officially absolved Henry Chisholm, D-N.Y., and her presidential campaign committee of charge of mishandling campaign funds. The charges were made last fall by the General Accounting Office in a 10-page report, which was referred to the Justice Department for legal action based on what the GAO called "apparent violations" of election and corporate laws.

(C) New York Times Service. WASHINGTON — The Justice Department has

The case is substantially closed, a Justice Department spokesman said Tuesday.

He said "charges of alleged misconduct" were not substantiated, and that other charges, including failure to keep records of contributions and expenditures, had since been remedied.

The Justice Department added, however, that the case was not closed because "a couple of minor matters are still pending."

A press spokesman for the GAO, asked to comment, replied that "all we do refer apparent violations of the law."

MAYOR ALIOTO
In office endorsed

No shift in 'Zebra' hunt due

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor Joseph Alioto said Tuesday "stop and question" tactics will go on as long as police believe it will turn up clues in the search for the mysterious "Zebra" killers, who have shot 18 persons randomly.

Alioto responded to criticism by some black groups and to two civil rights suits filed against the police, saying police used the same procedures to hunt a white suspect in the Zodiac killings several years ago.

"More people were stopped in the Zodiac investigation than in the current one," Alioto told newsmen. The "Zodiac" claimed to kill as many as 37 persons between 1966 and 1968, but was only linked definitely to six. He has never been captured.

"The Zebra killers have taken a dozen lives.

Alioto said 500 men had been stopped and only 100 of these had been interrogated since "Operation Zebra" began last week.

He said police would abide by any ruling resulting from a scheduled hearing in U.S. District court on the constitutionality of the intensive search.

A 30-member team of black detectives was added to the search team to gather intelligence. "We might not otherwise be able to get," said police chief Donald Scott.

(C) Chicago Daily News. WASHINGTON — Senate doves have made the first move in a legislative campaign designed to eventually phase out U.S. economic and military aid to South Vietnam.

An amendment directing the secretary of state to submit a detailed plan for future aid to South Vietnam, including a specific timetable for its phased reduction, was approved at an executive session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday.

The amendment, introduced by Sen. Robert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., gives the secretary of state 130 days after passage of the measure to submit his plan to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House speaker.

The secretary is instructed to plan the phased reduction so the U.S. "will cease to be the principal source of funds and material for South Vietnam's self-defense and economic viability."

The amendment was attached to the annual funds authorization bill for the State Department and its sponsors anticipate it will be approved sometime in the summer.

If it is, this means that the year be near the end of the may before the secretary is required to meet the four months' deadline with a phased reduction plan. Thus, it would be next year before any results could be seen from the plan.

It is significant, however, its supporters say, since it represents a new attitude in Congress toward Vietnam aid and a determination to legislate an eventual end of the burden.

In the meantime, according to the supporters, Congress is expected to cut the administration request for fiscal 1975 aid to Vietnam as it did the fiscal 1974 request.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger argues that the United States has committed itself "both politically and morally" to providing South Vietnam with economic and military aid it needs to defend itself against North Vietnam and to keep its economy functioning.

Boise, Caldwell stops set

BOISE (UPI) — The National Director of Action-scheduled stops in Boise and Caldwell today as part of National Volunteer Week.

Dr. Michael P. Balzano, Jr., was to address the Boise Chapter of Commerce noon meeting and then go to Caldwell to tour the Community Involvement Programs project.

Boise was the first stop on a tour of the Northwest Balzano is making.

Flood alert still in effect

BOISE (UPI) — A flood alert for the Big Wood River Basin remains in effect, with the stream swollen from the spring runoff.

The National Weather Service advised residents to take steps to protect livestock and property from the flood threat.

Areas especially in danger according to the Boise-weather office Tuesday included the residents along the river between Gimlet and Bellevue.

The Big Wood River is expected to continue rising, with temperatures unseasonably warm and causing heavy runoff from melting snowpacks.

U of I accepts proposal

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — University of Idaho faculty council members Tuesday accepted in principle and as a recommendation to the administration a proposal that the University adopt an ethnic-disadvantaged student academic advisory program.

The proposal was prepared by the school's committee on minority affairs. It recommends the hiring of a full-time director for the program who preferably would be of American ethnic background such as black, Chicano or American Indian.

Retirement plan eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Senate is expected to take up legislation within the next three weeks to update the retirement income credit for retired teachers, policemen, firemen and other government annuitants.

The measure was prepared by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho. The committee on the committee on Appropriations, Education and the Labor Committee.

Scout fete set in Burley

BURLEY — About 180 Eagle Scouts will be honored at the Snake River Area-Council, Boy Scout recognition banquet Tuesday in Burley.

Gov. Cecil Andrus will be the featured speaker at the 25th annual banquet set for 7:30 p.m. at the Ponderosa Inn.

A reception for each of the Scouts who received their Eagle awards during the past year, and for their sponsors, will begin at 7 p.m. Each scout will be sponsored by a local community or business leader.

The program will include the recognition of several "old-time" Eagle scouts who have become outstanding members of the local communities.

Gleeed said over 800 Scout leaders, Eagle Scouts and their parents, and sponsors are expected to attend.

AG's office issues warning

BOISE (UPI) — An investigator in the Attorney General's Office has warned Idahoans to be cautious in dealing with transient door-to-door solicitors who offer to perform house or yard work.

Ronald M. Treat Tuesday said "any door-to-door solicitation for extermination or home repairs should be dealt with cautiously."

He said in the springtime the transient repairmen go through out the nation and the elderly persons are taken advantage of by disreputable individuals who leave town as soon as they receive their pay.

Boise man named

BOISE (UPI) — Richard C. Moon, Boise has been named Idaho public-affairs manager for Mountain Bell.

A graduate of Idaho State University and an Idaho native, Moon began his telephone company career at Twin Falls in 1955. Moon has also worked for Mountain Bell at Denver, Idaho Falls and Boise.

Meet set on AF dam

BURLEY — Developments in the rebuilding of American Falls Dam will be discussed at a public meeting today at 8 p.m. in the Burley Ramada Inn.

Environmental improvements in the rebuilding project will be reported at the meeting by Clifford Durrington, Idaho Irrigation District engineer. Durrington is a member of the committee involved in re-designing and building the new dam.

Changes in the plans to rebuild the dam will affect water users in both Cassia and Minidoka counties.

Murphy sets new conference

BOISE (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy has called a news conference for 10 a.m. Friday, at which time he is expected to announce his future political plans.

Last fall, Murphy announced his Republican candidacy for governor, since then he has suffered a back injury in a horse riding accident and is reassessing his plans.

When he disclosed his back injury, Murphy said if he does not seek the governorship he will run for a third term as lieutenant governor.

Commencement speaker set

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — Dr. Glenn Ladgett, president of Grinnell College at Grinnell, Iowa, will be the commencement speaker May 24 at the College of Idaho.

The Rev. Dr. David L. Assen, minister of the First United Methodist Church, will give the baccalaureate address May 24.

In his address to the third graduating class, Dr. Assen will speak on "Rising Expectations and the Liberal Arts Dilemma."

DECS signs building contract

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — The Department of Environmental and Community Services has signed a contract for construction of a 14,000-square-foot building to house its Caldwell Service Center.

A three-year lease-calls for $66,500 a year in rent for the facility. The structure will be built by O. T. Sanders, Boise, owner of the land.

Recall vote eyed

HAZELTON officials named on the recall petition are, top left, Leonard Hamilton, councilman and Mayor Jimmie Dryden, pictured at left, Elwood Hensley, councilman.

Hazleton residents will be asked to decide whether the mayor and two city councilmen are to remain in office. A special-recall election will be held May 3 for Hensley. No date has been set on the other special recall vote.

Hazleton residents eye special recall election

HAZELTON — Hazleton residents will be asked to decide whether the mayor or two city councilmen are to be retained in office.

Recall petitions were filed in February against Elwood Hensley and Leonard Hamilton. Hazleton city councilmen, charging them with failure to work with the mayor in seeking a solution to the city sewer problem.

In retaliation, supporters of the councilmen have filed a recall petition against Mayor Jimmie Dryden, charging him with non-cooperation with the two councilmen and spending too much time on the sewer and not enough on other city business.

Counted among the signatures on the petition against the mayor are councilman Don E. Crumrine and Hensley.

Mayor Dryden said today he would not resign his position as mayor and said the charges against him were "without warrant."

"I have notified the city clerk that I will not resign, but will leave it up to the voters of Hazelton and I urge everyone in Hazelton to turn out and vote," Dryden said. He said that in order to save the city money, he has requested his recall election to be held at the same time that Hamilton's recall is set.

A special recall election will be held May 3 for Hensley, Hamilton's recall election was delayed because of the lack of three signatures on the petition against him.

HAZELTON — Mrs. Jackie Christopheron, Hazelton city clerk, resigned Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Christopheron was unavailable for comment this morning, but her husband, Gale R. Christopheron, said he would handle the matter.

"She's tired of the whole hassle," he said.

Reward offered on missing man

ROGERSON — A reward of $1,000 has been offered for discovery of Jeff Holbrook, 20, missing in the Shoshone Basin area since Feb. 20.

Von-Sorenson, Wells, Nev., chairman of a citizens committee attempting to locate the missing Nevada resident, said anyone finding the man or his body will receive the reward, posted by interested Nevada residents and the family.

"Persons searching in the area are asked to close gates and be careful of livestock and fences. If the man is found, the finder is asked to contact Sheriff Paul Corder, Twin Falls, immediately."

Sheriff Corder said the man's new automobile was found 10 miles east of Rogerson shortly after Holbrook was last seen Feb. 20 in Twin Falls. Bunchers in the area saw a man on foot near the car but he was too far away to be positively identified. Sheriff Corder said it is assumed the man was Holbrook.

Numerous searches by posse groups on horseback on snowmobile and by deputies have failed to locate any trace of the missing man. Corder said another search, largely by Nevada volunteers, is scheduled next week.

Cohen said economic considerations were basic to the "recommendation for real standards. "As more and more data comes in we get more and more practical," he said.

To treat all fish-farm discharge in settling basins, with sludge removal, would cost an untenable 40 cents per pound of fish produced and without sludge removal the cost would be 40 cents per pound of fish, he said.

"How can you recommend this," Cohen queried. "We just feel we can't."

Instead, the EPA report recommends treating the comparatively small portion of the total discharge by flushing out the ponds, he said.

This "best practicable treatment" should remove 15 per cent of the BOD and suspended solids, Cohen said. He said he found in the report the amount of settleable solids it would remove.

Ron Culver, EPA sanitary engineer, estimated about 50 per cent of the settleable solids would be removed with this treatment. In 1983, under the provisions of the Clean Water Act, the hatcheries will have to install the best available "primary" facilities, meaning treatment of all discharged water when physically possible.

This treatment should remove 35 per cent of the BOD, 50 per cent of the suspended solids and 70 per cent of the settleable solids, Cohen said. He said he found in the report the amount of settleable solids it would remove.

Ron Culver, EPA sanitary engineer, estimated about 50 per cent of the settleable solids would be removed with this treatment. In 1983, under the provisions of the Clean

Blaine objections heard on 4-lane highway route

By BART GUESNELL
Times-News Writer

SUN VALLEY — A boisterous and cynical audience jeered its disapproval Tuesday night for a four-lane highway anywhere in the Wood River Valley.

Nearly 400 people filled a large room at the Holiday Inn to give testimony and ask questions at the first of two public hearings with highway district officials.

The district has proposed acquisition for four-lane rights-of-way through the valley. The study stretches from the Idaho 18 junction and continues to North Fork north of Ketchum. It also includes the Ketchum to Sun Valley route.

Another hearing is scheduled tonight at 8 p.m. at the Valley High School.

At a later point in the evening, a Ketchum school teacher asked the audience how many people raised their hands.

Throughout the evening "no one offered

Jerome aide raps press

Fredericksen also criticized Twin Falls attorney Douglas Kramer for statements to the press.

Kramer, who is a candidate for district judge, had discussed public courtroom events that occurred about a half-hour before the fatal shootings.

The three victims of the shooting were arrested as a murder suspect had been involved in a divorce hearing in Twin Falls. Kramer had discussed the events of the public courtroom hearing.

Fredericksen also said a schematic diagram of the scene of the killings pointed to a Times-News account was "inaccurate." The diagram had been drafted from the account of witnesses at the scene.

Fredericksen said the diagram was "incomplete" but repeatedly refused to say what was incorrect about it.

Additionally, he noted a typographical error in which a "four" was identified as "a page" instead of 12 pages. The Times-News regrets the error.

Fredericksen said the Times-News should have not given full coverage to the slayings.

He said news reports could anger relatives of the victims and harm the investigation.

"It will make it harder for us to protect him," Fredericksen said.

Additionally, the Jerome prosecutor said full coverage could lead to requests for a range of services from the local law enforcement.

He criticized the Times-News for not coming to him for information, while at the same time he admitted that he had refused repeated Times-News requests for additional information since the case throughout Monday and Tuesday.

While making his objections to press coverage Tuesday, he said he would give no further information to the press.

Stable cleanup assigned

TWIN FALLS — Removal of the remains of horses killed in a Sunday night fire at Frontier Field has been assigned the city sanitation department.

City Manager Jean Miller Tuesday afternoon, asked the city sanitation officer, Joe Coon, to assist with the task and to use whatever city equipment and workers are necessary.

He asked Coon to contact the College of Southern Idaho, owners of Frontier Field, and determine if insurance companies of the area have been cleared. If so, he asked Coon to volunteer the city services and equipment for the removal task.

It has been two days since the fire, he said, and if not removed immediately, the situation could present a health hazard.

Coon said the 16 animals killed in the fire have been removed by their owners but others are still in the charred rubble of the barn which burned. Miller said he does not believe the burned animals nor does the college or Jesse D. Coon said a city leader could probably be assigned to clear away rubble and remove the testimony supporting a four-lane route.

Winnifred Mayes said his constituents felt a two-lane improved highway was a necessity between Ketchum and Sun Valley.

Gray was the only person last night who said he building a two-lane improved highway meant the acquisition of four-lane right-of-way. He was in favor of it whether or not four lanes were ever built.

Howard Johnson, district highway engineer, began the meeting, emphasizing highway department proposals would be "refined" and be consistent with federal highway goals and objectives.

He continued that when a decision was made through consultation with the Council of Environmental Quality and the state highway board that it be "made in the best public interest."

Complete construction on any four-lane alternative would take at least 20 years to complete, according to Johnson.

Even if construction would occur, additional public hearings will be held before any building design is approved, Johnson said.

Everett Kidner, assistant highway engineer, showed several alternative routes proposed. Each proposal would involve some widening of the road.

Several questions were raised by comments on separate sheets in Ketchum. Another proposal would run a one-way couplet from Cold Springs, the present highway would serve as the northbound lane and the present railroad right-of-way as the southbound lane.

Johnson said the railroad right-of-way was not available from Union Pacific, the department would suggest "a two-lane improved highway except in certain sections west of Hailey, west of Cold Springs and along Third Avenue through Ketchum."

Johnson said the department would estimate a two-lane improved highway over existing right-of-way would cost $9.8 million. An ultimate four-lane without railroad right-of-way would cost $17.5 million. The highway department has computed cost estimates but Kidner said they were taken from today's figures.

Using any conceivable plan, a four-lane right-of-way acquisition would involve displacing at the minimum 11 residents and 13 businesses in the valley, according to departmental statistics.

Johnson said a project would be needed of the officials. Johnson was asked if a two-lane improved road was included in the environmental impact statement.

Johnson answered, "No."

A voice from the audience screamed, "Well, what are you doing here?"

"There criteria for federal funding must have an ultimate four-lane design," Johnson said.

Brian Clark, Ketchum, who is trying to start a school at Ketchum, the present I-18 branch, he said Douglas Myhre, highway engineer, the department had come up with figures that showed a railroad was not economically feasible.

"It's our opinion," Myhre said, "that there will not be a sufficient reason to rail or bus service to negate efforts by the highway."

Anger spread in the audience when Richard Clements, area engineer for the federal highway administration, disagreed with district officials' opinions that federal monies were available for a two-lane highway construction.

Charles Thomas, Ketchum, said that he was assured last year by highway officials that if the residents did not want a four-lane highway they wouldn't get it. "Is it clear we don't want a four-lane highway through here?" Thomas said.

Myhre, Ketchum, Highway 33 Committee opposing four-lane highways, asked if the present automobile use necessitated the four-lane highway.

lodies to be buried.

The fire broke out Sunday about 9:45 p.m. and burned through the large barn at the field. Efforts were made to remove the horses from the burning building but witnesses said only three horses could be rescued because of the extent of the fire by the time it was discovered.

The area is owned by the College of Southern Idaho and leased to Clarence Bowlin for operation. The lease does not require his living in the premises and he resides a short distance from the burning building but witnesses said but he was not at home Sunday night.

Bowlin left the field about 6 p.m. Sunday, his wife said and a CSI security officer checked the area about an hour before he saw smoke coming from the barn and notified the department.

A city fire station is located at the south edge of Frontier Field property but when equipment arrived, the fire, notified the building firemen said.

Firemen said the wooden building was old and burned rapidly. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

EPA weakens control of fish pollution

He maintained that because the oxygen consumption waste is so diluted, "in these fish ponds BOD isn't really a problem." The fact that trout live in the waters below hatcheries show there is not great problem, he said.

There has been the point of view of Magic Valley trout farmers along.

"Everything is very very testy," Cohen said, emphasizing the tentative nature of any report. "We're four to six months away from this, maybe five," he said.

Cohen said economic considerations were basic to the "recommendation for real standards. "As more and more data comes in we get more and more practical," he said.

To treat all fish-farm discharge in settling basins, with sludge removal, would cost an untenable 40 cents per pound of fish produced and without sludge removal the cost would be 40 cents per pound of fish, he said.

"How can you recommend this," Cohen queried. "We just feel we can't."

Instead, the EPA report recommends treating the comparatively small portion of the total discharge by flushing out the ponds, he said.

This "best practicable treatment" should remove 15 per cent of the BOD and suspended solids, Cohen said. He said he found in the report the amount of settleable solids it would remove.

Ron Culver, EPA sanitary engineer, estimated about 50 per cent of the settleable solids would be removed with this treatment. In 1983, under the provisions of the Clean Water Act, the hatcheries will have to install the best available "primary" facilities, meaning treatment of all discharged water when physically possible.

This treatment should remove 35 per cent of the BOD, 50 per cent of the suspended solids and 70 per cent of the settleable solids, Cohen said. He said he found in the report the amount of settleable solids it would remove.

Ron Culver, EPA sanitary engineer, estimated about 50 per cent of the settleable solids would be removed with this treatment. In 1983, under the provisions of the Clean

EPA were based in Washington state.

Culver, who EPA engineer, said just one short study was made and that the results were "a little bit hazy." He said the study report "had a lot of discrepancies in it because some dirty glassware was used in measurements."

At the same time, Culver said the Washington State, Idaho EPA, used by the EPA "apparently had some really gross errors." He said the actual amount of BOD produced by 100 pounds of fish is not accurately known.

EPA sanitary engineer Jim Sweeney, who has been working on the trout industry guidelines, said earlier in the year that about 15 percent of the BOD produced by the high amount of BOD produced by fish wastes.

Girls district, conference meets signal windup of track season

Magie Valley's girls begin the first elimination steps toward state titles, while conference action takes the boys spotlight, this week in track action.

The class 8 girls will conduct their district runs in two days at Filer, the preliminaries for about 1:30 p.m. Friday and the finals going at noon Saturday. The top three places — more in some events — will advance to regional the following week and then wind up the season at state the Saturday after. The Class A girls run at Minico at 10 a.m. Saturday.

On the boys scene, the Northside conference and Magie Valley Conference will decide their titles at Thursday at Gooding State and Friday at Murtaugh, respectively. Mountain Home will entertain the Cross State Conference finals at 3:30 p.m. Friday while Twin Falls and Minico will go to Pocatello to run in the eastern division. SIC runs. The top qualifiers there will advance to the 12-team SIC championships in Boise in another week. For those boys' teams not participating in conference finals, Filer is hosting an invitational at 1 p.m. Friday and Wendell is running a triangular that same afternoon.

Camas County, running a virtual monopoly on everything its been in this year, should be tough in the Northside Conference boys meet while the Musher girls appear to be a good bet to claim the girls class 8 district laurels.

The Musher boys have won the state eight-man football championship and the A-4 basketball title and, backed by Layne Osborne's great showing in the Boise invitational last week, could be considered challengers for the state A-4 crown. Not team in the 0 to 124-enrollment class won that title since the state went to three classifications.

Competing with Camas County will be Richfield, Gooding State, Dietrich, Bliss and Carey.

The Magie Valley Conference appears to be a tight race with Eastsideford having some good quality — largely in Alan Schultz — and Murtaugh displaying good depth. How Hansen, Oakley, Hagerman, Declo and Raft River can hurt those two should decide it. In the Declo invitational Monday, with all there but Hagerman and

Twin Falls might be able to pull out another eastern division SIC title but it appears the Bruins are very long shots when considering overall crowns.

Coach Jeffery Kleinop's Bruins didn't score a first in the Boise invitational last week, but Borah scored a shot.

The Bruins' point production should go up a little as Brent Watson's ankle injury appears coming around now and the big senior should get points in the shot and discus. Of note is the continued improvement of shotputter Terry Hillman, now getting into the 55-60 foot area.

And then Henderson is starting to run the high hurdles well.

Jerome shouldn't have any problems winning the Cross State Conference at Mountain Home. The Tigers should dominate the relays and score heavily in the distances. They also have enough depth to get points in about every event. Barley and Buhl will join in this effort.

Camas County's girls should prove much too much for the field to handle — and, in fact, the Musherettes could give state a serious run. They are strong in the sprints and hurdles — kind of course, the relays.

The Class A girls field encompasses only five schools — Twin Falls, Minico, Jerome, Buhl and Burley. Twin Falls is a strong favorite to win again — the Bruins have never lost this event.

New champs assured in two-man tourney

TWIN FALLS — Several strong local teams should have a good shot at winning the Twin Falls two-man best ball golf tournament this weekend.

Actually a new champion will be crowned, because last year's winners, Ron Black and Chuck Hardesty, Boise, have not entered the event.

Strong contenders for the 1974 title should be Phil McRoberts and Bob Ameglio, Twin Falls. Not exactly young lions, McRoberts and Ameglio, however, have the consistency needed to win on the Twin Falls. Many course.

Three younger teams from Twin Falls should also give the title a good run. Jim Purvis and Bob Langdon, Twin Falls, form an almost ideal team for this type of tournament.

Langdon is the type of golfer who can get on a hot streak and birdie seven or eight holes while Purvis makes par after par.

Dave Mac and Bill Cook, TWIN FALLS, and Mike Robertson and Dave Driscoll should also be in the battle for the championship.

Out of town teams that should make a good showing include Doyle and Dick Stoker from Nevada, and brothers Mike and Jack Mooney from Pocatello.

Mike Mooney won the Magie Valley Amateur in 1972 on this same course.

According to Clyde Thomsen, Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course Pro, the field will be split into A and B groups this year, splitting the lower handicap teams from the higher handicap teams. Net and Gross prizes will be given in each group.

Thomsen said partners on a team could not have a handicap stroke spread of more than five shots.

In addition to several prizes, $50 lap money will be paid to low-gross and net teams on Sunday's round.

Thomsen said the field is filling fast and teams must be entered by Thursday afternoon.

DYKE GORDY will be one of two Magie Valley fighters participating in the Intermountain boxing tournament in Salt Lake City this weekend. Chris Harbaugh of Gooding will be the other. The two earned the right by winning state titles last month.

TF girls outlast Mushers to win Wood River invitational

HAILEY — The Twin Falls girls were shut out on individual first places on the track but had enough depth to win the Wood River invitational Tuesday evening at the Challenger-Gamer Country.

Twin Falls, with Stacy Bradford and Miss Brown winning field events and taking three relays, scored 734 points while Camas County, strong in the sprints and hurdles, was second, at 60. Wood River had 424; Filer 19, Jerome 12, Buhl 7 and Minico 2.

Camas County took the three short sprints and went one in the 400 and 800 and 200 hurdles. They accounted for more than half of the Musherette points.

Twin Falls pulled 11 points out of the discus and 10 from the high jump to help offset Camas' dominance in track strength.

All but Filer and Camas County will participate in the class A district finals at Minico Saturday morning. The other will join 21 teams in the B district at Filer with preliminaries Friday afternoon and finals at Sunday.

Bassett to speak at CSI fete

Tim Bassett, ex-CSI star and currently a member of the San Diego ABA team, will be the featured speaker Tuesday at the annual College of Southern Idaho athletic recognition banquet.

The event will have considerably more, with a goodbye and a hello along with Bassett, providing a little nostalgia. Roy, Gray, the third hand basketball coach at the school, and Jerry Hale, who left earlier this month to accept the Oral Roberts University head job, also will say a few words.

Bassett, one of the most popular Eagles of all time, left CSI three years ago after helping nail down a runner-up spot in the national tournament. He graduated from the University of Georgia and then signed with San Diego. Bassett started for the Qs most of the season and wound up third in ABA rookie of the year voting.

Those being honored at the banquet include participants in baseball, track and basketball. The event is slated for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Blue Lakes Inn. Tickets are available from all Golden Eagle Boosters or by calling 733-5554.

Pacers feel they're back on win track

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — They did it with "outs," said Coach Bobby Leonard, and Indiana Pacers are still alive and kicking after being all but counted out of the ABA playoffs.

"They're even seeing a ray of hope in their bid for a third straight league championship, but first they must win the next two games from the Utah Stars."

No team in pro basketball ever has come back after losing the first three playoff games, but Leonard's up-and-down Pacers trailing 3 games to 2 — now are favored in the sixth game against the Stars at the "Rupp" in Indianapolis. The Pacers were a 10-point underdog in the Western Division, playoff title at Salt Lake City Saturday, with the winner going against New York's Eastern Division champs for the crown.

"The Pacers, champions three of the last four years but an unpredictable lot most of the 84-game regular season, won't Leonard said was the 'key game' at Salt Lake City Monday night, 11:05 p.m. — we can come out there and win," he told the club, "we're back in the series."

He even allowed his team could win "the whole thing" if the drawn-out playoffs last long enough.

The Pacers started their comeback bid in the fourth game here last Thursday. "That's two big ones in a row," said Leonard after Monday's triumph. "And I mean we were backed right up against the wall, too. That's

Hepworth, Buhl take golf honors

Buhl — Charlie Hepworth won the medalist honors with a 78 as Buhl's Indians took another golf match Tuesday afternoon.

Buhl covered his home course in 327 for a whopping 34-stroke edge over the Twin Falls Indians at 356. Jerome had 367, Kimberly 376, Gooding 392 and Filer 40.

Monday the Indians placed second in an Idaho Falls match. Idaho Falls won at 321, followed by Buhl at 322, Skyline 348, Rigby 357 and Shelley 350.

Individual scoring for Tuesday's play included: Buhl 78, Vern Eastman 79, Jeff Hepworth 85, Perkins 86, Twin Falls JV's — Underjen 83, Mingo 91, Empey 83, Pope 89, Jerome — Keith 87, Morgan 89, Callen 97, McJee 97, Kimberly — Standley 97, Taylor 94, Wukerson 108, Eullmer 87, Gooding-Smith 88, Muscat 97, Borden 102, Clayville 105, and Filer — McKay 93, Shelton 109, Bliss 99 and Brake 99.

Center-Mel Daniels, playing his best game of the playoffs, tied George McGinnis for scoring honors with 29 points and 14 rebounds. Donnie Freeman hit 9 of 12 shots for 18 points; and Darnell Hillman added 17.

Willie Wise scored 27 for Utah, but the Stars sorely missed ailing veteran center Zelmo Beatty, who may be out until Saturday.

The Pacers refused to fold when Utah scored a 40-point halftime deficit and took an 82-81 lead after three periods.

"I think that was an impressive display of courage by Indiana," said Utah assistant coach Larry Green.

"When our guys came out in the third quarter and were hitting the shots so beautifully, and coming back to go into the lead, a lesser club might have folded."

Celtics want to end Knick series early

BOSTON (UPI) — Coach Tom Heinsohn wants his Boston Celtics to apply enough pressure Wednesday night to squeeze the New York Knicks out of the National Basketball playoffs.

Boston leading 3-1 in its Eastern Division semifinal series with the Knicks, has been "successful in everything we've done against the Knicks except for three quarters in the game we lost (105-100)," said Heinsohn after steering the Celtics through a light workout at Boston Garden.

"I'm happy with the way we're playing but we have to keep the pressure on," he said. "If we don't put pressure on it's their game and then they'll put pressure on us."

Thus far in the series, Boston has won down New York with its fast break and defense. In addition, the Celtics have taken advantage of the absence of center Willis Reed and the sub-par play of forward Dave DeBusschere, who is slowed by an abdominal pull.

Heinsohn said his team has capitalized on the Knicks' mistakes and has created opportunities to present themselves with lead and DeBusschere out of the lineup. We're doing what they did to last year when Havlicek was out with an injury in the playoffs.

One more Celtics victory in the best-of-seven series would give Boston its first playoff series win over the Knicks in three years. New York won the Eastern Conference playoffs the last two years and took the league title also in 1973.

But Heinsohn is not thinking beyond Wednesday night to the Milwaukee Bucks, who already have won their semifinal playoff round in the West.

"I haven't talked about playing the Bucks and I don't want to," Heinsohn said. "I'm still concerned about the Knicks."

Heinsohn worked his team in practice on their inbounds plays from under their own basket. "I just want them to get some better shots," he said. "We're not going to do anything different, we just want to work on the plays we have."

In New York, Reed, the Knicks captain, missed the Tuesday workout because of excess fluid in his knee. The Celtics are expected to play from the knee, but made the trip here and is expected to play.

GLENN'S FERRY - Carrey Highschool, manager of the Grand Crossing State park, was a guest at the Monday chamber of commerce luncheon.

He said "this year parking fees for residents and non-residents would be the same, but vegetable fees for tents, campers and trailers, depending on the amount of electricity or sewage facilities used."

He announced that any time the Boy or Girl Scouts planned a camp in the park, a program would be provided for them if they wished.

George Lucia was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Gerald Bybee.

He said the Glenns Ferry Moose Lodge planned to build a fish pond along the park area and would stock it with black bass. Any one would be allowed to fish there, with the exception of days set aside for children.

The members discussed extending the archery range in the park, and starting some house league games.

Lucia appointed Nighswonger as program chairman for the month of May.

Buying a home can be a joyful experience or a hassle. A Realtor smooths your way. He shows you only the types of homes you want to see, within your price range. He makes appointments at your convenience and inspects homes with you, calling to your attention advantages and disadvantages you might overlook.

Your Realtor gives you essential information about taxes, maintenance costs, public services and neighborhood conveniences. His knowledge of market values helps you see through inflated prices. He gives you sound advice and helps you arrange financing.

A Realtor is not just "any real estate man or woman", but a member of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and local Boards, and who subscribes to a strict Code of Ethics. Look for the Realtor seal. It's your assurance of competence, fair treatment and integrity.

Make you move to better living now — 1974 — Begin by getting acquainted with a Realtor.

Gooding event set

GOODING — A sheepman turned singer will be performing in Gooding Saturday night, sponsored by the Gooding Chamber of Commerce.

Louis Michel Irigary, known as the Basque Balladeer, and his troupe will be performing in the Gooding High School gymnasium. The event is open to the public.

Irigary, a Californian who dropped an athletic scholarship to Notre Dame when his father bought another 2,000 sheep and needed his services, has been singing for his own enjoyment for years.

A few years ago his friends surprised him with arrangements to appear on the Garry Moore show and he left sheep camp for New York and the start of a recording and entertainment career.

At that time he had made a record but few people had heard it. "I must have sold 300 or 400 copies after the Garry Moore show," he said.

A new record, "The Basque Balladeer," is now selling at a somewhat more rapid pace. Irigary, who sings in his native Basque and in English, said he didn't speak English until he was 11 years old and learned to play guitar and sing while living with his father's large sheep operation in California.

He now writes some of the ballads he sings and records. In addition to his Gooding appearance, Irigary will appear at the Jerome High School and also entertaining at Jackpot, Nev.

Appearing with him in Gooding will be the Oinkari Dancers, Boise, including the leading Basque dancer of the country, Toni Bland. Appearing with him in Jackpot and at school programs are Bonnie and John Boedeker, Dubois, Wyo., who provide guitar, piano and vocal numbers.

The two-hour concert in Gooding, featuring Basque music and dancing, will help raise funds for Christmas decorations for the community.

Garden school set

GOODING — The Gooding County Annual Garden School will be May 4 at the Gooding Grange Hall.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. The program will include talks and demonstrations on vegetables and will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The school is sponsored by the Gooding County Garden Club and the Extension Service. Lunch will be served by the Gooding Grange at 12:30 p.m. Tickets must be reserved in advance. For reservations, call Mrs. Wayne Holloway, 534-4322 or Mrs. Ira Klatier, 934-3245.

A Lovelier You CULтивATING PETAL HANDS

By Mary Sue Miller

Like beautiful roses, beautiful hands require careful cultivation. The methods that produce notable results for the hand complexion and fingernails are basic care, manicure and make-up.

"How's that again?" you may ask. Of course you guess that basic care is the daily procedure involving mild soap, soft hand-brush, orange-wood stick to tidy cuticles and nail tips, pumice for stains, and a plentiful supply of hand lotion or cream.

Manicure revolves around expert weekly manicures and hand complexion treatments. Effectiveness depends, when this equipment is lacking: emery boards to trim and reshape nails; scraps of sheet stockings to test nail solvents for snags; small pin to hold warm skin oil for hand soaks; cosmetic gloves to ensure hand complexion after soaking; for emergencies a spin repair kit and fake nails.

The wonders of mani-magic come from searching out the methods and products that solve individual problems. As instances, let's discuss extra-dry hands and extra-tough textures. There are hand-creams for extra-dry conditions that work upon faithful application.

The use of cuticle remover acts like magic to dissolve ragged edges, all without cutting. And when, cutting, can be avoided, cuticle is halfway home to a smooth finish.

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send for LOVELIER HANDS, a booklet that covers every step in your quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails problem-free; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, permanent rits, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Mini-Reviews

Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received by the library.

"Fragments" by Avi Kivan. Armah. Three main characters play out the major theme of spiritual vision versus the grotesque material expectations of Africa.

"Farewell to Manzanar" by Jeanette Houston. The Wahsatuts were one of the first families to arrive at the community of Manzanar which had been created to house Japanese American internees. The search of the meaning of Manzanar in the author's life has produced a book of extraordinary emotional power.

"Heir to Potvinton" by Marjorie Watson. This exciting century romance begins as Julie, a protected Londoner comes to Cornwall as the heiress to Potvinton.

"Wagontrain Road" by Benjamin Camp. The author vividly recreates the incident of the important Indian wars.

"Sexual Suicide" by George K. Gilder. "Women control not the economy, but the economy of sex, the life force in our society and our lives." What happens in the inner realm of women finally shapes what happens on our social surface, determining the level of happiness, energy, creativity and solidarity in the nation.

Filer club organized

FILER. A new home extension club has been organized in Filer.

Mrs. Loren Hollaway will serve as president; Mrs. Darlene Zink, vice president; Mrs. Stan Melton, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. George Wagon, reporter. The new club has 15 members and will choose a name in the near future.

The May 15 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Melton. A lesson will be presented on landscaping.

Banquet set May 11

TWIN FALLS. The Murtaugh Lake Water Ski Association will hold its annual banquet May 11 at the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls.

Tickets must be purchased before May 4. The price for the beef dinner is $7 per person. Interested persons should call 733-1938 or 734-4845 in the evenings.

Diana Hoppered-Roan, a former Miss Idaho, will sing at the banquet. A fashion show premiere, featuring clothes from 1974 versus those from 1920, will be presented.

Proceeds from the dinner will help finance the club's maintenance and improvement projects at Murtaugh Lake.

CSI officers

NEWLY-elected officers for the College of Southern Idaho are Charlotte Pransell, Kimberly, left, vice president, and Scott Backer, Austin, Minn., president. The new officers and student-senators were sworn in Thursday.

Wendell, OES elects

WENDELL. Mrs. A. G. Biswell, Gooding, was elected president of the Wendell-Past Matrons Club. Order of the Eastern Star Monday evening.

Elections were held following a midweek dinner at the home of Mrs. James Dunn, Wendell. Mrs. Joe Kimes was elected vice president and Mrs. Woodrow-Harris was elected secretary-treasurer at the meeting presided over by Mrs. Ronald Lancaster, president.

Mrs. Harris was initiated as a new member. Cheer cards were sent to Mrs. Alonza Brown and Mrs. Owen Brown. Mrs. Shirley Madland, Mesa, Ariz., was a special guest.

Mrs. Lancaster thanked the members for their cooperation during the past year. She won the mystery prize furnished by Mrs. Albert Lancaster.

Mrs. Biswell appointed Mrs. Benton Adams and Mrs. Faith Eaton to the cards and gifts committee, and Mrs. Kimes and Mrs. Ruth Walker to the calling committee.

The next meeting will be held June 24.

Book Review

By JUDY STUDEBAKER

Twin Falls Public Library.

TWIN FALLS. Are you looking for a book that will impress you? One that you will really enjoy talking about?

Check out "A Pattern of Images" by the Carnegie Medal-winning novelist, K.M. Peyton. It's found downstairs in the Children's Room of the Public Library. If you are interested in reading about the worlds of the natural and supernatural, or about the doubts and difficulties that confront young people growing up today, keep this book in mind.

Mrs. K.M. Peyton has demonstrated a special insight into the memorable characters in this book. Tim Ingram is a 16-year-old boy growing up in today's England.

He becomes engrossed in a search for an artist who signed sketches with the initials T.R.I. The initials, identical to Tim's, provide motivation and intrigue, which results in Tim coming in touch with Tom Liskip, a remarkable boy who had died suddenly and mysteriously before his sixteenth birthday in 1940.

Rebecka, a neighbor's daughter, helps Tim in his efforts to unravel the mystery and sympathizes with Tim's grudging defiance of his successful and sophisticated parent's middle class values.

Tim decides that if he learns more about T.R.I.'s life and unexplained death, he may also learn more about the uncanny relationship between Tom and himself. As the story moves to a near tragic convergence, Tim discovers himself as well as the real Tom Liskip.

This is an original and very modern story. It has been skillfully woven to be appreciated by youth who are searching for their real identity and also by adults who are searching to understand today's youth.

Shoshone walk set

ALL READY for a walk-a-thon to raise funds for the Lincoln County swimming pool are John McKenzie and sons, Johnny and Jared. The walk will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at Richfield and will progress to Dietrich, then to Shoshone. Persons walking are solicited sponsors in funds.

According to Mrs. C. L. Peterson, chairman of the event.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can't receive a personal reply because my mother has the habit of "accidentally" opening my mail. I'm a 35-year-old widow. My husband died last year, and I'm back home living with my parents.

I attend church regularly. A month ago, during confession, the priest, who's about my age, suddenly said: "You people think YOU'VE got trouble—what about me?" Then he started to unload all his problems on me. I felt utterly helpless, and I couldn't listen to him. I told him I sympathized with him, and then I left. The next time I went to confession, he did the same thing, only this time he got very emotional and broke down and cried.

Priest unloads

I really like this priest, and don't want to get him into trouble with the church, but I dread going to confession again. He seems perfectly all right otherwise, but there must be something wrong with him. How can I help him?

FEELING HELPLESS

DEAR HELPLESS: You can urge him to see a doctor. Like any other man, a priest can have a nervous breakdown, and it appears that that is what is happening to him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this gentleman for six years. We both lost our wives, and we seem well suited for each other. He says he wants to marry me EXCEPT he loves his lovely old home and garden and will not leave it. I also have a lovely home, which I would have to give up, but I feel that we both should close the doors on our pasts and start new lives together.

He says I should give him time. How much time should I give him?

ORLANDO

DEAR ORLANDO: How old is he?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are organic vegetarians, but our best friends aren't. We do many things together but we've never made a point of the fact that we're vegetarians.

They are constantly inviting us over for dinner. They invariably serve meat, and just the smell of meat cooking makes me sick to my stomach. Everything else they serve is either out of a can or from an "add-water" package. We have quietly endured the meals at their home because we don't want to get them mad at us. How can we turn down their dinner invitations without jeopardizing our friendship? I don't know how many more of their dinners we can take.

YECOH

DEAR YECOH: You should be able to tell your "best friends" that you are vegetarians and as such do not eat meat. With the price of meat the way it is they may not be as "mad" at you as you think.

CONFIDENTIAL TO E.M.: He who cannot forgive others, breaks the bridge over which he himself must pass. If he would ever reach heaven: for everyone has need to be forgiven. (Herbert)

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 67700, P.O. Box 9999, Enclosed, stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Castleford plans July reunion

CASTLEFORD. Graduates of the Castleford High School from 1937 through 1940 will hold a reunion July 13-14.

Members of the reunion committee are attempting to locate class members who graduated during those years.

Grady R. Spradling, Buhi, committee member, said there are several graduates from each year whose whereabouts are unknown. The committee is asking help in locating these.

Included are Jim Rodgers and Viola Vogel who graduated in 1937; Floyd Brown and Elmer Hitt, 1938; Shirley Brown, Georgia Reed, Leola Virginia, Betty Shelton and Virgil Reid, 1939; and Edna Beardsome, Donald Dewitz, Vesta Doramus and Thelma Taylor in 1940.

These persons or anyone knowing their whereabouts are asked to contact Grady R. Spradling, Box 424, Buhi, 83316.

News Of Servicemen

GOODING — 2-Lt. Robert C. Thompson, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Thompson, Gooding, was presented the army commendation medal in Germany.

The medal was awarded for meritorious service. Such service can be awarded only after a period of time or for outstanding achievement in a single situation. In either case, the recipient must have demonstrated skills and dedication far above the average.

Lt. Thompson earned the award while assigned as a human relations officer with the 3rd Infantry Division's 2nd Battalion, 1st Field Artillery in Bad Kissingen, Germany.

JEROME — S-Sgt. James T. Featherston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Featherston, Jerome, has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the US Air Force medical laboratory specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command.

The sergeant, who learned to prepare and analyze biological specimens, is being assigned to the USAF regional hospital at Carswell AFB, Tex.

Sergeant Featherston graduated in 1962 from Jerome High School, and attended Links Business College, Boise.

HILL CITY — U.S. Air Force Sgt. Donald L. Coleman, whose wife, Judy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Highland Wilson, Hill City, has graduated with honors from the Pacific Air Force Noncommissioned Officer Leadership School at Kadena AB, Okinawa.

Sergeant Coleman, who was trained in military management and supervision, is an air traffic controller at Kadena with the unit of the Air Force Communications Service.

He is a 1969 graduate of Palos Verdes (Calif.) Senior High School.

BURLEY — Airman 1-C David J. Young, son of retired Air Force M. Sgt. and Mrs. J. W. Young, Burley, has graduated at Keesler AFB, Miss., from the Air Training Command's basic course for electronic specialists.

The airman, who received instruction in communications and electronics systems principles, is remaining at Keesler for advanced training.

Airman Young graduated in 1970 from Burley High School, and attended Hicks College, Haysburg, and Idaho State College, Pocatello.

BEYBURN — Airman Byron Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil H. Johnson, Heyburn, has graduated at Keesler AFB, Miss., from the Air Training Command's basic course for electronic specialists. He will remain at Keesler.

Airman Johnson attended Minico High School, Rupert, Calif.

SALMON — Logging of timber by helicopter came to the Salmon National Forest this week.

The huge ship, capable of lifting 15,000 pounds, swung back and forth from the top of a 5,000-foot mountain ridge on the East Fork of Spring Creek to a collection area along the creek, bringing in logs every two to three minutes.

The 5 million foot sale is being harvested for The Intermountain Co. of Salmon by Columbia Construction Helicopters Inc., Portland, and

Blackfoot sentences meted out

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI) — Seventh District Judge Arnold T. Beebe sentenced Ron Hawk, 22, Idaho Falls, to three concurrent life terms in prison Monday for armed robbery and rape.

Hawk was involved in a robbery of a man and the rape of his wife last November on the Fort Hall Indian Reservation. Names of the victims were not disclosed.

Meanwhile, Judge Beebe sentenced Earl Wells, 37, Blackfoot, to four concurrent terms of seven years each for four counts of lewd and lascivious conduct involving young boys.

He sentenced Joseph Ghangraw, 30, Blackfoot, to up to three years for aggravated assault and battery, retaining jurisdiction for 180 days. Ghangraw pleaded guilty to knifing Lilly Freboest in downtown Blackfoot last March.

Lavida Brown, 26, received a withheld sentence and up to three years probation for voluntary manslaughter. She was the driver of a car that struck a power pole last December and killed a passenger, Rudolph Nephil, Whitlocks, Utah.

Huge helicopter begins logging operation is the first such sale harvested by this method in region 4 of the US Forest Service.

Because of the high interest in the operation, the forest service closed the main Spring Creek Road to unauthorized persons as a safety measure.

Gordon Crupper, Salmon manager of The Intermountain Co., and Frank Elder, North Fork District ranger, said that trips to view the operation for groups will be arranged.

The forest service said the timber sale was offered with the helicopter logging stipulation because of the steepness of the area which made logging road building undesirable.

James Crider, logging boss for Columbia, said the operation plans to remove some 110,000 to 120,000 board feet of timber each day.

He anticipates the 5 million board feet sale can be removed in two and one-half months.

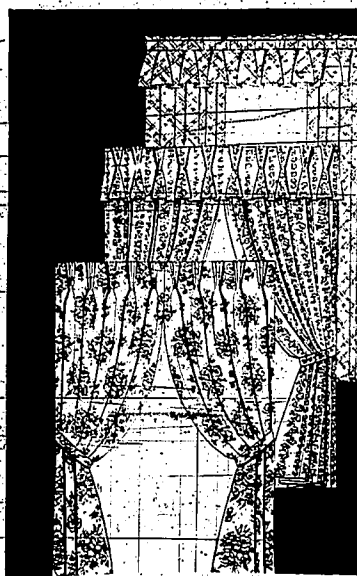

The helicopter hauls logs suspended from a 150 foot cable and deposits them at collection areas. The ponderosa pine in the sale is being trucked to Intermountain's S and W sawmill at Darby, Mont., while the Douglas fir is coming to the mill in Salmon.

The Salmon forest is expected to offer another helicopter sale next fall on Sage Creek.

Big oil profits on rise

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Several of the nation's largest oil producing companies including Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) and Gulf Oil, have reported first quarter earnings considerably higher than a year ago.

Gulf said Monday its first quarter figure at $290 million, or $1.49 per share, up 78 percent over the 1973 quarter when income was $165 million, or 80 cents a share.

Indiana Standard's first quarter figures were even more impressive with estimated earnings of $210 million, 81 percent higher than the previous year. The per share figures were $3.13, compared with $1.74 last year for the same three months.

The Standard report attributed the major portion of the increase to what it termed higher foreign petroleum earnings and increased profits from chemical operations.

Exxon Corp. today reported a 38.8 percent increase in first quarter net to $705 million, or $2.74 a share on total revenues of $3.945 billion from $508 million or $2.27 a share earned on revenues of $6.220 billion in the first 1973 quarter.

The first quarter earnings figure, however, represented a decline of 10.4 percent from the first three months of 1973 when the company earned $787 million or $3.51 a share on revenues of $5.20 billion.

Exxon Chairman J. H. Dutton said first quarter earnings from petroleum and natural gas operations worldwide were 21 percent higher than last year's. Sales of year-end 1973 inventories abroad, reflecting in part higher crude oil costs, contributed $80 million to first quarter earnings.

He said U.S. crude oil prices have increased 10 percent, and earnings from petroleum and natural gas operations were up 10 percent.

Exxon reported a 40.5 percent increase in earnings in the six months ended March 31 to $2.15 a share from $1.50 a year ago. Net income was $3.8 million against $2.3 million a year ago. Earnings for the second quarter were 75 cents a share up from 41 cents a year ago.

Commenting on the public interest in oil company earnings, Indiana Chairman John E. Swearingen said such interest was proper, "but earnings cannot be viewed in isolation. The purposes to which they are applied is an essential element in assessing their reasonableness."

"It is misleading to talk of record earnings without at the same time talking about record programs to find and produce more oil and gas and such earnings make possible."

In Pittsburgh, Gulf Oil Corp. board chairman, Bob R. Dorsey credited the firm's operations outside the United States for the increase.

Dorsey said earnings from Gulf's domestic petroleum operations declined slightly in the first quarter.

He said domestic earnings from all sources rose 3 percent, but accounted for only 39 percent of the first quarter total earnings for the first quarter.

In the 1973 first quarter, two-thirds of the firm's profits were earned within the United States, Dorsey said.

Gulf said its production of crude oil in the United States declined 8 percent during the quarter and accounted for less than half of the firm's production.

The remainder was made up by the purchase of domestic oil from other producers and a 47 percent increase in crude oil imports.

Despite higher production from Iran, Nigeria, Gabon and Ecuador, the company said domestic production fell about 8 percent in the quarter, largely because of Kuwait's decision to cut production in cooperation with Arab League.

Gulf said the unilateral action by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) to escalate the price of oil last October and again in January resulted in sharply increased costs.

Equipment stalls tax returns
BOISE (UPI) — There is a backlog of tax returns in the state tax commission, and commissioners have blamed it on new "data" processing equipment.

Commissioner Irving Little said about 65,000 refund warrants have been sent to taxpayers but commissioner Luther L. Passmore said the commission still has about 110,000 in process.

Little said the problem occurred when the commission switched to key disc type data processing from key punch. "We got all balled up in the changeover," Little said. "We lost a tape but we did not lose the data."

Joggers burn few calories
CHICAGO (UPI) — A jogger who burns up 100 calories daily through his daily run could lose 10 pounds a year.

The Journal of the American Medical Association reports that the jogger burns up almost as many calories as the out-and-out runner. But the Journal also says that "exercise alone — fast or slow — can't burn off pounds."

An Air Force Academy research team study shows that a 175-pound man running about 1.5 miles in eight minutes will burn up 175 calories while another man the same size jogging the distance in 18 minutes will burn 165 calories or only 10 fewer. But "fast or slow" is not the answer, it is while to burn off 3,500 calories equivalent to one pound of fat.

Crop-dusting planes lost in N. Idaho
LEWISTON (UPI) — Hillcrest Inc., Lewiston, has lost two crop-dusting planes on the Snake River in the Nezperce, Idaho, airstrip.

Hillcrest Manager Gary Duggett said the two planes suffered a total of $12,000 damage and are beyond economical repair. However, he said the pilots, Gary Tappin of Ohio and Paul Brown of South Dakota, were not injured in the crashes. Duggett said Lappin apparently hit some turbulence while taking off with his Cessna 441, and Benson had engine trouble, also while taking off loaded from the Nezperce airstrip. He said the accidents were the first by Hillcrest aircraft in five years of crop-dusting operations.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon, force nothing, but plan activities. Later in the day and p.m., modernize things that mean the most to you through which you can express your talents.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study future trends well; then take the action necessary to become more successful. Visit with kin and good friends. Drive with utmost care.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Start new economical action that will build your bank account. Read statements and reports that are of a practical nature.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Organize personal relationships better for a happier, more productive life. Put the best plan to work quickly. Take treatments to improve appearance.

LEQ (July 22 to Aug. 21) Steer clear of one who sows or you can say things you do not mean, but enjoy social affairs that are worthwhile.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Pursue new aims in a.m. for added success. Make an appointment with a new friend who can give you needed data. Be on time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take care of promises during day so you can enjoy romantic pleasure later. Do not follow hunches early, but later they are quite accurate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) An associate could be

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan. 20) Handle duties early and efficiently so you can do something later to make your life

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can take some little risk in it, as you might very well come out the winner. But keep wallet in a safe place.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do those things that will make life at home more harmonious and more love will exist there. Entertain in a small show-off family.

The innards of animals that graze, as do cows, manufacture some sort of enzyme that breaks down the cellulose in grass fibers, so said grazers can get the grub out of same. But people's quizzards don't pump out that enzyme. Therefore, one Dr. Lewis H. Smith is quoted as claiming that human beings must eat meat. "I'm convinced that vegetarianism is a menace to the health," says he. "The reason is that animal protein which is more complete than that in nuts and vegetables." Make mention of this contention because it's a rarp one. Usually, the vegetarian is the critic of the meat eater.

IN THE BEDROOM
The beds people sleep on determine whether they're high brow, upper middle brow, lower middle brow or lowbrow. And the clothing they sleep in, if any, determines too. Look to the whimsical claim of a pair of Indiana scholars. Beds: High-brow, double. Upper middle brow, king-size or twin with one headboard. Lower middle brow, twin with matching night tables. Lowbrow, double. Clothing: Highbrow, none. Upper middle brow, a sed turtle-neck nightshirt for him & gown with matching peignoir for her. Lower middle brow, pajamas for both. Lowbrow, underwear for him, nightgown for her. Where do you and your matrimonial mate rank on this bedroom brow scale?

TF legal aides elected

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Legal Secretaries' Association returned Monday from the state convention at Lewiston. Local secretaries were elected to two offices and received the 1973 state convention.

Maureen McClung, secretary for the firm of Goodman, Duff and Chisholm, Rupert, was re-elected to a third term as secretary of the Idaho Association of Legal Secretaries.

Doris Paxton, Twin Falls, employed by May, May, Sadeghian and Fuller, was elected second vice president of the state association.

Both are charter members of the Twin Falls Chapter. Ms. Paxton was the chapter president in 1971 to 1972 and Mrs. McClung has served as bulletin editor. Ms. Paxton was also chapter legal education chairman and governor.

There were eight members from the Twin Falls chapter attending the state convention.

Rodeo dues deadline May 1

GOODING — May 1 is the deadline for payment of dues by high school rodeo contestants.

In order to be eligible for competition contestants should send their $20.50 dues to Gooding County district secretary Mrs. Leona Patterson, Route 2, Gooding, before the deadline.

Payment of the dues is the necessary obligation for membership. Belonging to the local high school rodeo club does not make the student a member of the Idaho High School Rodeo Association, Mrs. Patterson said.

The state rodeo will be in Boise June 19-22. In order to qualify for competition in the state rodeo, a competitor must win at least a third place in the district rodeo.

Gov. Andrus schedules TF visit

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will come to Twin Falls County Tuesday for a "Capitol-for-a-day" visit.

He said he will be on the streets of Twin Falls that day to talk with people who are interested. "I want our people to know that they always have a direct line of communication with their governor," Andrus said.

Andrus said the purpose of his visit is to give the residents of Twin Falls County an opportunity to talk with their governor and to give him first-hand information regarding the needs of the area.

News Of Servicemen

JEROME — Arman Gilbert D. Serr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Serr, Jerome, has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Kan., after completion of Air Force basic training.

He is a 1972 graduate of Jerome High School and will receive specialized training in the aircraft equipment maintenance field.

Programs planned for library week

TWIN FALLS — National Library Week is being observed in the Twin Falls Library with a number of special programs and displays.

Mrs. E. J. Reichard, Jerome, and the Jolly Jesters will present a marionette workshop Saturday in four separate sessions for groups of 10 each session.

Because of the involvement in using papier-mache and other materials, only 10 youngsters, from third through sixth grades, will be accepted for each session.

The first session begins at 10 a.m., the second at 11 a.m., another at 1 p.m. and the final one at 2 p.m. in the children's room of the Twin Falls Library.

Grade school students are being urged to sign up early as registration closes after the first 40 youngsters. Friday is the deadline for sign-ups.

Basic materials will be furnished but children will take the marionettes home for "learning."

Other National Library Week events include a survey of library hours to determine days of the week and hours most convenient to the patrons of the library.

A display of the library of previous years and plans for the future is planned during the week.

A special display will be the Freedom Shrine materials donated by the Twin Falls Exchange Club. These will have a permanent place in the library when the proposed expansion program is complete but will be on special display this week.

Selection of a winner in the contest to name the large patchwork elephant will also be made during the week with children voting for their favorite name from the 11 finalist names posted in the library.

Youth drops stolen tire when pursued

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls police arrested a juvenile late Monday in connection with a burglary and the theft of a tire from the Sears Auto Center.

Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls said a citizen observed the Twin Falls youth steal a tire from the Sears store and give chase on foot, losing the youth in the 300 block of Shoshone Street but recovering the stolen tire which the youth had dropped.

The 17-year-old was later picked up by police on a disturbance charge. Qualls said, and investigation led to the being charged with the burglary.

While the tire was recovered, damage to a window at the Sears store was estimated at $25.

Police were also investigating two other burglaries.

William Rowe, 336 Fourth Ave. E., told police that his 17-year-old son stole the tire early morning hours Monday and cash and merchandise valued at about $300 removed.

Rowe said the burglar or burglars removed a rear porch window to get into the home, then went through the house removing clothes, sunglasses and other merchandise including about $25 in cash.

During the night Monday, someone also broke into the Twin Falls Humane Society office, 260 Maxwell St., and removed about $80 in cash from a desk in the office.

Entry to the building was gained by breaking out a window on the southeast side of the building, police said.

Jeane Dixon predicts Nixon will survive

BOISE (UPI) — Prophet Jeane Dixon predicted Monday night that Richard Nixon will survive the current political crisis and that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., will not become president.

Mrs. Dixon, who achieved national fame in the early 1960's by predicting the assassination of John F. Kennedy, spoke to an audience of 1,500 at Boise State University.

She predicted a comet will destroy part of the earth in the 1990's burning some objects and forming new lands.

"Barren lands will become fertile and the earth's rotation will be jarred back to the time of Noah's Ark," she said.

She also foretold a food shortage next year and a "dictatorial ship in America by the turn of the century. She said space flights will be discontinued during the latter part of the 1970's but will resume again in cooperation with other countries before the end of the decade.

"Jupiter will give us a bird's eye view of a sister planet, to earth on the other side of the sun, inhabited by creatures of God," she said.

Impredicting Nixon's political survival Mrs. Dixon said "the president will come through and history is going to record him as a great President." She said Nixon can right a great wrong and predicted "the will."

Repayment made

IDAHO Fish and Game Department information and education officer Stu Murrell said Marvin Fouts, secretary-treasurer of the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol Club with a 1968 reimbursement for use of the club's facilities in gun safety programs.

MV clubs reimbursed

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Fish and Game Department has reimbursed Magic Valley rifle and pistol clubs $1,068 for participation in youth gun safety programs in 1973.

According to Stu Murrell, IFGD, the local clubs were reimbursed for the use of their facilities by the fish and game department to teach gun safety to school students.

The Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol Club received $68 for its participation. Murrell said this amount represents $1 per student taught in the program. The Buhl Rifle and Pistol Club received $100 and the Cassia Rifle and Pistol Club was reimbursed $360.

Money for this statewide reimbursement program comes from a 10 per cent tax on handguns earmarked to pay for gun safety programs in the United States.

In all, $4.2 million is being distributed for these programs throughout the United States, Murrell said.

Sun Valley meets slated

SUN VALLEY (UPI) — A series of "public meetings" is planned in the Sun Valley area May 1-2 on how best to use 98,000 acres of land near Sun Valley.

O'Dell A. Franzen, manager of the Shoshone district office of the Bureau of Land Management, said the meetings are planned to get public input about the Sun Valley Planning Unit.

Although the BLM is charged with multiple-use management of resource lands, Franzen said, "where we use which cannot be accommodated without degrading or eliminating others."

He said major conflicting uses have been identified in the unit and he hopes area residents will help resolve them at the meetings.

Ketchum okays chicken take-out

KETCHUM — The Ketchum Planning and Zoning Commission gave informal approval Monday night for a take-out restaurant.

Meeting without quorum, the commission gave tentative approval for the "Chicken Coop" but could take no formal action.

The new business firm had submitted plans to the commission and the City Council before but questions over US Highway 93 access into the place had caused some hesitancy to approve the plan.

The building is adjacent to US Highway 93 on the north end of Ketchum.

Sponsors for the business told the commission that Everett Kidner, assistant district highway engineer, had said no curbs or gutters were likely to be built there.

Slight modifications to previous plans by the new business were approved and signed by commission members James Glenn, Pauline Thomas, Ed Heap, Bob Haemmerle, David Vhay and Robert Neely.

Since specifications were approved, Ketchum building inspector John Giacobbi granted the group a building permit.

Giacobbi also raised the question of the need for property line delineation before building permits are allowed.

The commission gave a tentative "yes" on requirements stipulating each new condominium have a property line delineation and plat drawings showing its exact location before a permit is granted.

In other business Vhay submitted his resignation to the board. The request for his resignation was brought by the Ketchum City Council. Council members said he was asked to leave because of absenteeism.

North Idaho mining firms settle rift

WALLACE (UPI) — American Smelting and Refining Co. and Coeur d'Alene Mines Corp. today announced agreement regarding differences between the two firms concerning the Coeur d'Alene mining district.

The Court Project is a silver property adjacent to the ASARCO-operated Gelena Mine in Northern Idaho.

Fred D. Orsley, manager of ASARCO's northwest mining department, said the major issues of litigation in First District Court have been settled and Asarco is proceeding with a feasibility study based on the construction of a 48-ton-per-day ore-processing mill at the property.

Orsley said, "known reserves, plus those we can reasonably be assured of developing, should provide at least a 10-year life for the mine at this rate."

He said silver production would be about 2.2 million ounces per year.

Orsley said if the firm's expectations are realized a decision to equip the property for production should be possible later this year.

FB board asks agencies' end

TWIN FALLS — Directors of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau have called for discontinuation of two agricultural agencies.

In a board of directors meeting Monday night, the county group adopted a resolution which will be submitted to the Idaho Farm Bureau convention in Burley this fall.

Dick Parrott, county president, said the directors feel the REAP and ASC programs are no longer practical in this area and may as well be phased out by the administration planning, but have been reinstated by Congress.

REAP, the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Agency. Parrott said the REAP program which gives farmers part of the cost of conservation programs such as concrete lining for ditches is no longer applicable in this area because most farmers have already completed such programs.

Some pollution control work is still needed, but he said the directors question the cost of maintaining offices for the reasonably small amount of benefit derived.

In some areas, he said, consolidation of the offices into regional rather than county programs is underway, but directors feel complete closure would be more practical.

In other action Monday night the directors voted to donate $100 to the 4-H leadership scholarship fund.

David Mead of Canyon Inc. met with the group to explain the efforts of his organization in preserving the agricultural base in Twin Falls County.

Rice target price plan creates split split has surfaced among the nation's rice producers over legislation, establishing a target price system for rice, similar to the support system enacted for other feed grains last August.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A

The target price system for rice has been proposed by the Agriculture Department in an effort to expand production and lower the consumer price.

The target price system would take controls off the acreage that can be planted in an effort to increase domestic supply and rice exports. The government price support system would be triggered automatically if the market price of rice slipped below a specified level.

Several congressmen who represent the main rice producing states spoke out against the target price system during hearings Monday by the House Agriculture Committee's subcommittee on conservation and rural development. They were joined by a number of industry spokesmen who contended the current system has worked well for 20 years and should not be changed.

Packer beef supply monopoly target

By BERNARD BRENNER

UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Buoyed by strong support from several prominent Congressional Democrats, Agriculture Department officials will move within a month to ban a "practice feedlot" where cattle owned by farmers or outside investors are fattened for slaughter on a fee basis.

Public hearings on the proposal were held in February and March at Des Moines, Iowa, and Phoenix, Ariz.

Marvin L. McClain, P&S administrator, said he hoped the final decision could be made by the middle of May.

He said agency experts and attorneys are currently making a thorough review of the proposal and its impact on the beefing and in some 700 beefing and waterways fed directly with the agriculture unit.

Other sources, however, pointed out that about 90 per cent of the contract received in the case backed the P&S proposal, including strong letters from Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., of the House Judiciary Committee, and Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., of a Senate antitrust subcommittee.

Hart's letter was co-signed by 19 other Senators including John L. McClellan, D-Ark.; Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.; Clifford P. Case, R-

N.J., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Hart said reports indicate that during the past two years, 17 packers that slaughtered 40 per cent of the nation's meat either owned or showed interest in acquiring custom feedlots.

Few bean sales

DENVER, Colo. — Supplies of beans in most varieties were not sufficient to establish a market this week, but those selling held generally steady with the previous week.

The traders estimate on pinto beans from southern Idaho near $90, which compares to a mere $9.50 a year ago. Very little trading was reported for the week in any bean classifications.

Supplies of pinto, small reds and pinks were scarce and high quality great northern were limited. Low quality great northern were about 10¢ below the trade grade.

California bean markets experienced an extremely slow demand as wholesalers reported a seasonal slow down at retail levels. Growers were not anxious to sell at this time.

New wheats offered

WASHINGTON — Indications are the Canadian wheat board has begun a new phase of a campaign to develop commercial markets for two new varieties of wheat called Pitic 62 and Glenlea, the U.S. Agriculture Department reported today.

Pitic 62 and Glenlea are classified as utility wheats, but reportedly may have an even greater potential for food use, especially as lighter wheats for breadmaking in Europe and nozzle manufacturing in certain Asian countries, USDA said.

The two varieties are higher yielding than most traditional Canadian utility and bread wheats. Typically, these varieties could yield about 32 bushels per acre, USDA reported.

About 3,500 tons each of Pitic 62 and Glenlea are believed to be currently available for marketing in Europe, Japan, and Canada.

Decision due May 20

PORTLAND (UPI) — Final decision on whether to spray for tussock moths with DDT in about 400 acres in Oregon, Washington and Idaho will be made by May 20, regional U.S. Forester Theodore A. Schlapfer said today.

He said the U.S. Forest Service and other organizations have drawn up plans for the project, to get underway unless there is last-minute collapse of the infestation.

"We will be fully prepared to carry out the project, although we still hope all the preparation will turn out to be unnecessary," he said. "To date, indications are the infestation will continue this summer if not controlled."

Spraying would begin about June 1, depending on weather and other factors, and continue about a month, Schlapfer said.
